Sound Agreement On Trieste Issue Urged By Britain

Great Britain Says Changes
In Proposal Would Leave
Italy "Sick Man"

BOUNDARY LINES CONTROVERSY CAUSE

(BULLETIN)
PARIS, Sept. 6.—(INS)—The British government served notice today that the council of foreign ministers solution of the Trieste problem must be accepted in its entirety or rejected completely.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Great Britain declared today that any changes in Yugoslavia's favor of boundary lines now proposed for Trieste would leave Italy the "sick man" of Europe.

Hector McNeill, a British under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the peace conference it could not consent itself solely with finding punishment for Italy but must reach a sound agreement on the Trieste issue. He added:

"Can't Afford 'Sick Man'"

"I'm quite certain that Soviet Russia cannot afford a 'sick man' in Europe."

McNeill said Britain would "reserve the right to review" any changes now made in borders already approved by the council of foreign ministers. The treaties must be submitted to the Big Four.

He said Poland asked Italy to accept territory inhabited by Germans to Yugoslavia. He warned that Trieste may serve as the

PA NEW OBSERVES

Someone is evidently rushing the season. Pa New received his first 1947 calendar in the mail on Thursday. Calendars generally start trickling in around November, but this is the first year Pa New has received one this early. Perhaps, the shortage of calendar paper is lessened.

Downtown office workers and others, who had occasion to leave home early Thursday, left with heavier clothing to keep out the cold, but later in the day they were forced to doff the heavy clothing, due to the brightness of the sun's rays.

First complete day of school Thursday was the only barrier that prevented young lads from swimming underneath the East Washington street bridge. The boiling afternoon sun warmed up the atmosphere considerably.

Motorists receive quite a surprise as they approach the bend on East Washington street at Chestnut street, going East. Pa New notes, city workers have excavated the street, just beyond the bend and motorists ascending the hill are almost on top of the barricades before they know it.

With the approaching fall season and the falling of leaves from the trees of the city, motorists in the West Side area are cautioned to be extremely careful in the next few months. West Washington street from the school house to the end of the bus line is the only street in the city which still has the rails of the former street car line here showing. The rails become quite slippery and falling leaves will make them much more slippery.

One resident who has occasion to drive frequently from the Neshannock township environs to far out on the east side, says driving on East Washington street is becoming increasingly hazardous what with parking permitted on both sides of that street. After dark, with parking (Continued on Page Two)

New Controversy Is Provoked By Soviets

TOKYO, Sept. 6.—(INS)—The Soviets provoked a new conflict with General MacArthur's headquarters today over Japanese repatriation policies in a Russian press statement which was immediately countered by American occupation authorities. A Soviet spokesman had charged MacArthur's headquarters had refused to provide ships to repatriate 400 thousand Japanese from Russian occupied zones in Northern Korea and the Port Arthur area.

Col. C. A. Russell, handling repatriation matters for General MacArthur's G-3, declared the Russian proposal evaded terms of the Potsdam agreement because the Soviets had excluded disarmed soldiers and prisoners of war from the repatriation list.

Russell declared: "The Russians want to select certain individuals and send them back (Continued on Page Two)

France Opposes Byrnes' Program For Germany

(BULLETIN)
STUTTGART, Sept. 6.—(INS)—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes today set forth America's plan for economic and geographical unification of Germany, arousing an immediate storm of protest in France.

In a lengthy broadcast address demanding abolition of the zonal system and full return of governmental functions to the Germans themselves, Byrnes placed upon the record the means by which he believes Germany can be brought back into the peaceful family of nations.

The British press generally favored his recommendations, but as expected the French were highly dissatisfied. The air waves were filled with broadcasts from Paris branding Byrnes as a "champion of German recovery."

Patterson-Tito Have Conference

BELGRADE, Sept. 6.—(INS)—U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson talked with Marshal Tito for 45 minutes today regarding the United States indemnification demands against the Yugoslav government for shooting down a U. S. plane and killing five U. S. airmen. No immediate announcement was made following the conference.

New Meeting On Pittsburgh Power Strike Stalemate

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Officials of the Duquesne Light company and its independent union were scheduled to meet in another joint session today to thrash out means of a peaceful settlement in Pittsburgh's threatened power strike.

Mayor David L. Lawrence asked both groups to resume their talks following an all night session. As residents of this heavy industrialized area tensely awaited the union strike committee's next move—the time of the walkout, George Mueller, union president, flatly rejected the company's offer to submit the case to arbitration or a fact-finding body.

Still Stalemate

Mueller's rejection of arbitration followed on the heels of the company's refusal to consider 20 contract clause changes and a "revised approach."

The union boss, who seeks a 20 per cent pay boost and improved working conditions, said he based his rejection on statements in a letter Presley H. McCauley, light company president, mailed to all employees in which he stated that all issues in dispute could be settled by negotiation.

With a note of sarcasm in his voice, Mueller said:

Those statements mean our answer is "No."

As hopes for an immediate settlement faded, Lawrence disclosed that plans have been completed for maintaining the city's water supply and other essential services.

Peace Efforts In China Stalled

NANKING, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Communist insistence on a "cease-fire" order as a prerequisite to their participation in the newly-created five-man committee to reorganize the Chinese government stalled efforts of American mediators in China today.

Continued reports of nationalist successes on all fighting fronts undermined the communist concern for ending the fighting.

Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Chinese negotiator, conferred for three hours with General George C. Marshall and U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart but would not consent to communist participation in the government. He said:

"We're more concerned with stopping the fighting immediately than in discussing government reorganization."

He would the No. 2 communist accept the sincerity of the assurances given the American mediators by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that the government would issue an overall cease fire order provided the communist leaders gave a similar order.

Cascade Park Receipts Higher

Cascade Park receipts for 1946 exceeded those of 1945, according to a report presented to Parks Director Joseph Alexander today. The preliminary report was made by City Controller W. A. Moore. The receipts are $1,100 ahead and additional rentals are to be received. Reports also from Sylvan Heights golf course show, Moore reported that the receipts are ahead of those for 1945 and the season is not yet ended.

TRUMAN DELAYS DIRECT ACTION

(By International News Service)

America's deep-water shipping was virtually "frozen" today as American Federation of Labor picket lines on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts, tied up more than 3,000 U. S. vessels and affected an estimated 400 thousand Maritime workers.

Paralyzing effect of the walkout, called in protest against a decision of the wage stabilization board, was heightened when CIO Maritime unions and foreign seamen's organizations volunteered to respect the picket lines.

Anger of the strikers against the WCB was expressed by Paul Hall, New York port agent for the Seafarers' Union.

Sugar Workers Strike Looming

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—(INS)—An international strike of sugar workers in Latin American countries which produce 90 per cent of the United States supply was termed "possible" today by Harry Bridges, Pacific coast labor leader.

Bridges made the statement as he issued a resolution agreed upon by labor leaders representing more than 700,000 sugar workers in Puerto Rico and Cuba, pledging aid to striking Hawaiian workers.

The resolution threatened "joint and concerted action" to correct what was termed "sub-standard wages and conditions now prevailing throughout the industry."

Prepare To Erect New Traffic Light On South Mill St.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna today banned parking of motor vehicles around the circle at South Mill, Grove street and Croton avenue, or the circle that exists on what some often refer to as the Rosena site. The chief stated that within a few days a new traffic light will be placed in South Mill street at that point because of the extra traffic now flowing from Route 72 across South Mill street via Taylor street to Butler avenue.

The chief stated that Mayor John F. Haven had also ordered that, as soon as possible, the arrow be removed from the Butler avenue-East Washington street light to give traffic flowing south a chance to enter Taylor street.

During the past several weeks white traffic lines have been painted in various highways and "no turn" warnings also painted at heavy traffic points, all of which has helped to enhance safe operation of cars and protection to pedestrians.

Some Highlights Of Speech By Byrnes

STUTTGART, Germany, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Following are highlights of Secretary of State Byrnes' address today stating American occupation policy in Germany:

Peace Terms

We will oppose harsh and vengeful measures which obstruct an effective peace. We will oppose soft measures which invite the breaking of the peace.

Occupation

As long as an occupation force is required in Germany the army of the United States will be a part of that occupation force.

Isolationism

We have learned, whether we like it or not, that we live in one world from which we cannot isolate ourselves.

Demilitarization And Reparations

The United States is prepared to carry out fully the principles outlined in the Potsdam agreement on demilitarization and reparations.

Balanced Economy

The United States is firmly of the belief that Germany should be administered as an economic unit and that zonal barriers should be completely obliterated so far as the economic life and activity in Germany are concerned.

Await Reactions To Byrnes Speech

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Diplomatic observers in Washington today interpreted Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' Stuttgart speech as an appeal to the German people, deemed to assure the resurgence of a central German state.

These observers had anticipated that Byrnes would make an even stronger appeal, laying down the case of the United States versus the Soviet Union in current peace negotiations.

Byrnes failed to do this and dealt only with the problem of Germany herself. Observers took this as an indication that Byrnes, taking a cue from the Russian occupation handbook, was determined to lay (Continued on Page Two)

Monsoons Fail To Halt Riots

BOMBAY, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Lashing monsoon rains lessened but did not halt Hindu-Moslem rioting in Bombay today.

Eleven cases of stabbing and several beatings were reported to police soon after the lifting of the all-night curfew.

Authorities, who said they regard the situation as "tense and explosive," have increased police and troop patrols.

The sixth day of rioting in Bombay brought total casualties to more than 200 dead and 600 injured.

Large contingents of Indian and British troops were ordered to stand-by duty in north and central Bombay, and a thousand extra troops are patrolling the riot zones.

Dispatches from the provinces said a 12-hour curfew has been clamped on Amroli following a number of communal assaults within the city limits. The curfew was ordered for a 60-day period.

Study Picture Of Mysterious Rocket

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Experts who investigated photographs of mysterious rockets seen over Stockholm recently revealed today the missiles were propelled by some method hitherto unknown.

The London Daily Telegraph published a picture taken of one of the "Ghost Rockets" by an amateur photographer who thought he was taking a "snap" of one of the islands near the Swedish capital.

The newspaper said that when the picture was developed, the negative showed one of the rockets clearly.

Officials of the Swedish general staff impounded the negative, subjected it to super-sensitive processing, and found the projectile was propelled by charges escaping from the center of its body, rather than from the rear as is usually the case.

Clemency Refused Condemned Soldier

SAPPORO, Hokkaido, Sept. 6.—(INS)—A court martial today overruled a clemency recommendation of Eleventh Airborne Division Commander Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Swing and returned a second death sentence against Pvt. Frank R. Wall, 22, of Long Island City, N. Y.

Earlier in the day Swing had convened the court martial to reconsider the sentence to death by hanging imposed on the soldier. He declared the sentence was too harsh.

American Policy Toward Germany Given By Byrnes

U. S. Secretary Of State
Makes Dynamic State-

Address

WARNING IS ALSO AIMED AT SOVIET

By LEON PEARSON
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

STUTTGART, Germany, Sept. 6.—Secretary of State Byrnes delivered a dynamic statement of American policy toward Germany today in which he demanded that occupation lines be broken down, Allied armies be reduced and the German government be returned to the German people.

His speech was one of clarification to America, reassurance to Germany and warning to Russia.

Byrnes did not name the Soviet government, but pointed an accusing finger at Moscow for blocking the economic revival of the defeated Reich.

He declared America does not want Germany to "become the satellite of any power or powers or to live under a dictatorship, foreign or domestic."

He said that the purposes of the occupation did not contemplate a prolonged alien dictatorship. American occupation leaders and internal political life.

Forces Face Long Stay

But he said also that security forces probably will have to remain in Germany for a long period and added significantly:

"I want no misunderstanding. We will not shrink our duty. We are not withdrawing. As long as an occupation force is required in Germany the army of the United States will be a part of that occupation force."

The secretary, in his address to American occupation leaders and German officials, said that the United States has learned "that we live in one world from which we cannot isolate ourselves."

Byrnes warned the German people not again to make the mistake, of believing that peace-loving America "will sit back hoping for peace (Continued on Page Two)

Relators Plan Housing Fight

Nearly 20,000 Realtors Plan
To Fight Rent And Housing Controls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Representatives of nearly 20,000 realtors today rushed plans for an all-out fight against federal rent and housing controls in general and the Wagner-Elender-Taft Low-Cost Housing Bill in particular.

The meeting of more than 150 presidents of local real estate boards is a continuation of Thursday's session at which the realtors pledged to use every ounce of pressure they could bring to bear on congressional candidates to forward their program.

Action Outlined

Action already completed includes:

1. A demand that the OPA immediately authorize a 15 per cent increase in residential rents.

2. A demand that controls on materials, labor and rents for new homes be abolished.

3. A demand that congress refuse to reconsider the Wagner-Elender-Taft bill, which was stalled in a House committee at the close of the last session after passage by the Senate.

General Ike To Make ETO Visit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—The war department announced today that Chief of Staff Eisenhower will leave late this month for Europe to complete his annual inspection of troops in the field.

While in Europe Eisenhower will stop briefly in Great Britain and possibly one or two other countries to fulfill engagements it was necessary for him to break when illness prevented his return to the European theater before he took the office of chief of staff.

Report 21 Died In Plane Crash

Civil Aeronautics Officials Seek Cause Of Fatal
Nevada Crash

ELKO, Nev., Sept. 6.—(INS.)—Civil aeronautics officials today sought the cause of the crash of a Trans-Luxury airliner which killed 21 persons and left a two-year-old boy as the only survivor.

The tragedy occurred early yesterday on the barren Nevada desert five miles west of Elko. The chartered ship was en route from New York to San Francisco.

The only survivor was blond, blue-eyed Peter Link of Brooklyn, N. Y. His father, Paul Edward Link of the U. S. navy, his mother, Ann, and his six-month-old brother died in the wreck.

Boy Is Found

Searchers groping amid the strewn and blazing wreckage of the plane came across the boy when they heard a whimper. He was found huddled in a clump of sagebrush more than 50 feet from the plane. He was taken to an Elko hospital.

Link had obtained a 60-day leave and was en route with his family aboard the plane for a visit with his brother in Oakland, Cal.

Another passenger, Mrs. Irene Barabus (or Baralus) of 932 Madison street, Brooklyn, N. Y., was found still alive amid the wreckage. She died while being rushed to an Elko hospital.

The pilot of the ill-fated plane, a twin-engine Douglas C-3, was Kenneth Campbell of Bottineau, N. D., a former navy flyer.

The two other crew members killed were Co-Pilot Harry Leatherman of Miami, Fla., and the stewardess, Marjorie Cox of San Francisco. The stewardess was making her second flight with the Trans-Luxury airline.

SINGS ATOP TALL LADDER IN STREET

Pedestrians in East Washington at Mill street today heard someone singing. They gazed upward. Who was he and where was he? He was Neil Black, a city painter, helping a city electrician put the traffic light in repair. He was perched atop a ladder at the light. SOUND AGREEMENT ON TRIESTE ISSUE URGED BY BRITAIN springboard for future aggression, recalling Germany's invasion of the free city of Danzig in 1939.

The line recommended by the Big Four would leave approximately the same number of Italians within Yugoslavia as Slavs within Italian territory.

McNeil declared a purely ethnic solution for disputed Trieste and Venezia Giulia was insufficient. He said:

Not Punishment Question

"It's not a question how we can most punish Italy. That will not work. Therefore it must be rejected. We must try to be internationalists and the solution must also be international. The free territory and the free port must come under effective control by the United Nations."

Britain asked Brazil to withdraw her motion for postponement of a decision on Trieste, or submit it again later. France announced opposition to the Brazilian proposal and repeated her intention to support the draft prepared by the Big Four council of foreign ministers.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov listened intently as the Polish spokesman charged that Italians settled in Venezia Giulia "as conquerors coming into an alien land." He added:

Can't Use Charter Plea

"The Atlantic Charter cannot be used as an argument in favor of such imperial conquests. If Yugoslav minorities are left in Italian hands, through border rectifications, it might serve as an excuse for Italy to sweep back into Yugoslavia."

The Polish statesman stated it would be impossible to create a "clear, definite ethnic frontier" in Venezia Giulia. He said:

"Strict application of the ethnic principle would lead to absurd situations and abuse."

He pointed out that Trieste and Danzig had similar features and that both were "outposts of specific policies." He added:

"Danzig had fatal consequences... it would be a disservice to the people of Trieste if we tempted them on this dangerous path... beware of creating another danger spot."

AWAITS REACTIONS TO BYRNES' SPEECH

before the German people in unequivocal terms, the precise objectives of United States policy toward Germany.

Overwhelming Reason

While the full implications of Byrnes' sudden decision to talk directly to the German people were not immediately apparent, it was felt in official circles in Washington that some overwhelming reason had prompted his action.

Hitherto Byrnes' objective has been to achieve peace treaties for Italy and the satellite states before winter, a goal that now seems doubtful.

However, it is also known that Byrnes would like to get a peace treaty for Germany written as soon as possible. That goal remains unattainable as long as there is no Central government of Germany with which to deal.

Russia Objects

Byrnes made clear that one of the chief obstacles to that attainment is Russia's unwillingness to go along with the integration of Germany into an economic and political whole.

There were other points in Byrnes' speech which appeared to indicate that he was seeking to meet Russian activities not only in the Soviet's own zone but in other zones as well. That he made a personal appearance in Germany to deliver his remarks also was taken to indicate the importance he attaches to the occasion.

He is the first statesman of any of the Allied powers to speak directly to the German people. This alone gave his speech an emphasis it might not otherwise have achieved.

Probably many days will pass before the full significance of Byrnes' speech is realized. It is a statesman's document and probably carries more weight between the lines than in the written receipt.

But observers felt that, regardless of other considerations, it marked a line in American foreign policy which recognized that Germany is a key country in Europe and that it is better, from the viewpoint of the western powers, to have her on their side than as a satellite of Russia.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kyle and son David and George H. Gray of Adams street spent Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Glasser, Greenville, Pa.

MARITIME STRIKE TIES UP SHIPPING IN NATIONS' PORTS

farers' International Union, which staged the protest with the sailors' union of the Pacific, Hall said:

"We will not tolerate any government bureau which takes away our bargaining rights. Lots of sailors' blood was spilled to get those rights, and if necessary blood will be spilled again to keep those rights."

Port Facilities Crippled

Crippling of port facilities in every major shipping center forced the Association of American Railroads to clamp an embargo on most rail shipments to areas threatened with choked traffic conditions.

The Maritime Commission, meanwhile, has appealed to the strikers to maintain "stand-by" crews to keep refrigeration machinery on hundreds of vessels in order "to prevent spoilage of thousands of tons of perishable food."

Although federal experts admit the two-day walkout by 90 thousand and AFL seamen is the "toughest" strike of the postwar period, President Truman delayed action by placing the dispute in the hands of Lewis B. Schwellenbach, secretary of labor.

Schwellenbach, in turn, directed his assistant secretary Philip Han-nah, to confer in San Francisco with Harry Lunderberg, SUP president.

To Seek Strike End

Hannah was instructed to seek an immediate end to the strike, or to invite Lunderberg to Washington for conferences with Schwellenbach and possibly the president.

CIO and AFL Maritime leaders agreed that the issues behind the walkout are the best any seafaring union ever had. They insisted the strike was called not against shipping companies or the government, but solely against the WSB.

A WSB ruling granted the two unions a $17.50-a-month increase for able body seamen, after raises of $22.50 and $27.50 had been negotiated respectively by the SUP and SIU.

Union chiefs aim now to spread the effects of the strike to include lighter and barge crews, and eventually to "everything that floats."

Major Disaster Faced

They urged the strikers to stay out until the WSB reverses unconditionally "its anti-union decision nullifying the wage increases," agreed to by both unions and steamship operators.

Shipping men, meanwhile, warned that if the strike continues for a period of days, as they fully expect it will, the nation would face a "major disaster."

John Hawk, national secretary of the SIU, said any "disaster" resulting from the strike would be "irreparable." He added:

"There's no pleasure in 'biting the bullet' but we hit them proper when it's necessary. These raises were not given to us on silver platters, we've had to fight hard to force the operators into giving them."

"We don't intend letting any government board take them away from us, and I believe that by this time the WSB knows we mean business."

ing on both sides, and with buses and a constant stream of traffic both ways, a driver often finds himself in some narrow squeaks through no fault of his own, complainant says. We must confess that driving any distance on East Washington street gives us a nervous feeling.

Pa Newc notes that motorists are none too careful these days in parking in the downtown alleys of the city. Even where parking is permitted, the car drivers are very careless as to how they park their cars. Many times the rear of the auto is left projecting into the cart-way preventing the passage of large delivery trucks, who in turn tie up other traffic attempting to get through the alley.

Examining one of the new post-war automobiles Thursday, Pa Newc discovered that the new car was minus a back seat. The driver explained that the seat makers are on strike and the cushion will be delivered at a later date.

Football fans are all agog over the opening of the gridiron season. New Castle high gets away tonight at Taggart stadium, and Bessemer high pries off the lid in a night game at Bessemer Saturday.

Apparently people leave things in the post office as well as on street cars, buses, etc. A notice in the lobby of the post office relates that several articles are being held that were found in the post office.

Apparently Oklahoma is still using the license tags of several years ago. An Oklahoma car was seen going through the city this week on which the tags were those issued originally for 1942.

Mrs. Walczak of R. D. 1, New Castle, says that contrary to general belief, at least on their farm, there are plenty of peaches, pears and apples. She has canned all the peaches and pears that they can use. Mrs. Walczak also mentioned that it was impossible to get anyone to pick the fruit.

Dear Pa Newc: I saw a very interesting sight yesterday while visiting on the farm of my aunt, Mrs. George Mallory, of R. D. 1, New Castle. Mrs. Mallory has an old setting hen, who at present is setting on a nest of old eggs. A mother cat from the farm with her two kittens has moved in with the hen. She leaves the mother hen to watch over the kittens, while she goes out foraging. The cat comes in to feed the kittens from time to time. The hen never picks the kittens and lets them crawl all over her. She even keeps them warm under her wings. It seems as though the housing shortage has reached the cat world too. AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD GERMANY GIVEN BY BYRNES

if any nation uses force or the threat of force to acquire dominion over other people and other governments."

Byrnes said that the time has come to define the boundaries of the new Germany.

He declared that the United States will support the French claim to the Saar but believes that if the Saar territory is integrated with France she should readjust her reparations claims against Germany.

The secretary said that America will support Poland's claim for a revision of her northern and western frontiers, pointing out that as a result of an agreement at Yalta Poland ceded to the Soviet Union territory east of the Curzon line.

Byrnes added that the United States will not oppose the desire of the people of the Ruhr and the Rhineland to remain united with the rest of Germany but will favor controls preventing the resources of those areas from ever again being used for destructive purposes.

The American statesman made a sweeping appeal to the German people to accept the new situation. He said:

Germans Must Realize

"The German people must realize that it was Hitler and his minions who tortured and exterminated innocent men, women and children and sought with German arms to dominate and degrade the world."

"It was the massed, angered forces of humanity which had to fight their way into Germany to give the world the hope of freedom and peace."

"The American people who fought for freedom have no desire to enslave the German people. The free-dom Americans believe in and fought for is a freedom which must be shared with all willing to respect the freedom of others."

"The American people want to return the government of Germany to the German people. The American people want to help the German people to win their way back to an honorable place among the free and peace-loving nations of the world."

Byrnes pointed out that so far only the British government has agreed to let its zone participate in the American plan to unify the economy of its own section with any or all of the other zones willing to participate in the unification.

He added:

Needless Aggravation

"Of course, this policy of unification is not intended to exclude the governments not now willing to join. The unification will be open to them at any time they wish to join."

He said the American government is unwilling to accept responsibility for what he called the needless aggravation to economic distress caused by failure of the Allied Control Council to agree to give the German people a chance to solve some of their most urgent economic problems.

The secretary warned that runaway inflation accompanied by economic paralysis is certain to develop unless there is a common financial policy directed to the control of inflation.

He said that to assure the greatest possible production and distribution of food a central administrative department for agriculture should be set up and allowed to function without delay.

Byrnes declared that Germany must be given a chance to export goods in order to import enough to make her economy self-sustaining. He said:

"Germany is a part of Europe and recovery in Europe, and particularly in the adjoining states, will be slow indeed if Germany with her great resources of iron and coal is turned into a poor house."

He declared that America will oppose "harsh and vengeful measures which obstruct an effective peace" and "soft measures which invite the breaking of peace."

Mrs. Verna Sankey and son, Finley, of 601 South Ray street, Mrs. Charles Caldwell, daughter, Eileen, and son, Charles, of 822 Oak street, have returned from a trip to Canada, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and other points of interest.

They'll keep singing its praises for years

Every so often it happens.

A car comes along that rings so many bells on so many counts that folks remember it fondly and talk about it for years thereafter.

You're looking at one of those "vintage-year" Buicks now.

Right from the start, it clicked with the stand-out, hint-of-the-future freshness of its styling.

It brought wide, appreciative grins with the smooth way its Fireball straight-eight engine delivers its eager surge of power.

It registered with the steady stride of two lively tons of roadweight, cradled on tireless coil springs all around that turn the roughest road into a pleasure cruise.

Then as people began to discover the blissfully easy way this dream boat handles—as the miles piled up and owners found their cars getting actually better—word started to go round: "That '46 Buick—there's an automobile!"

They'll be saying that for many a long year.

And while we're doing everything in our power to get you yours soon-as-possible, you'll find that when you get it is a secondary matter.

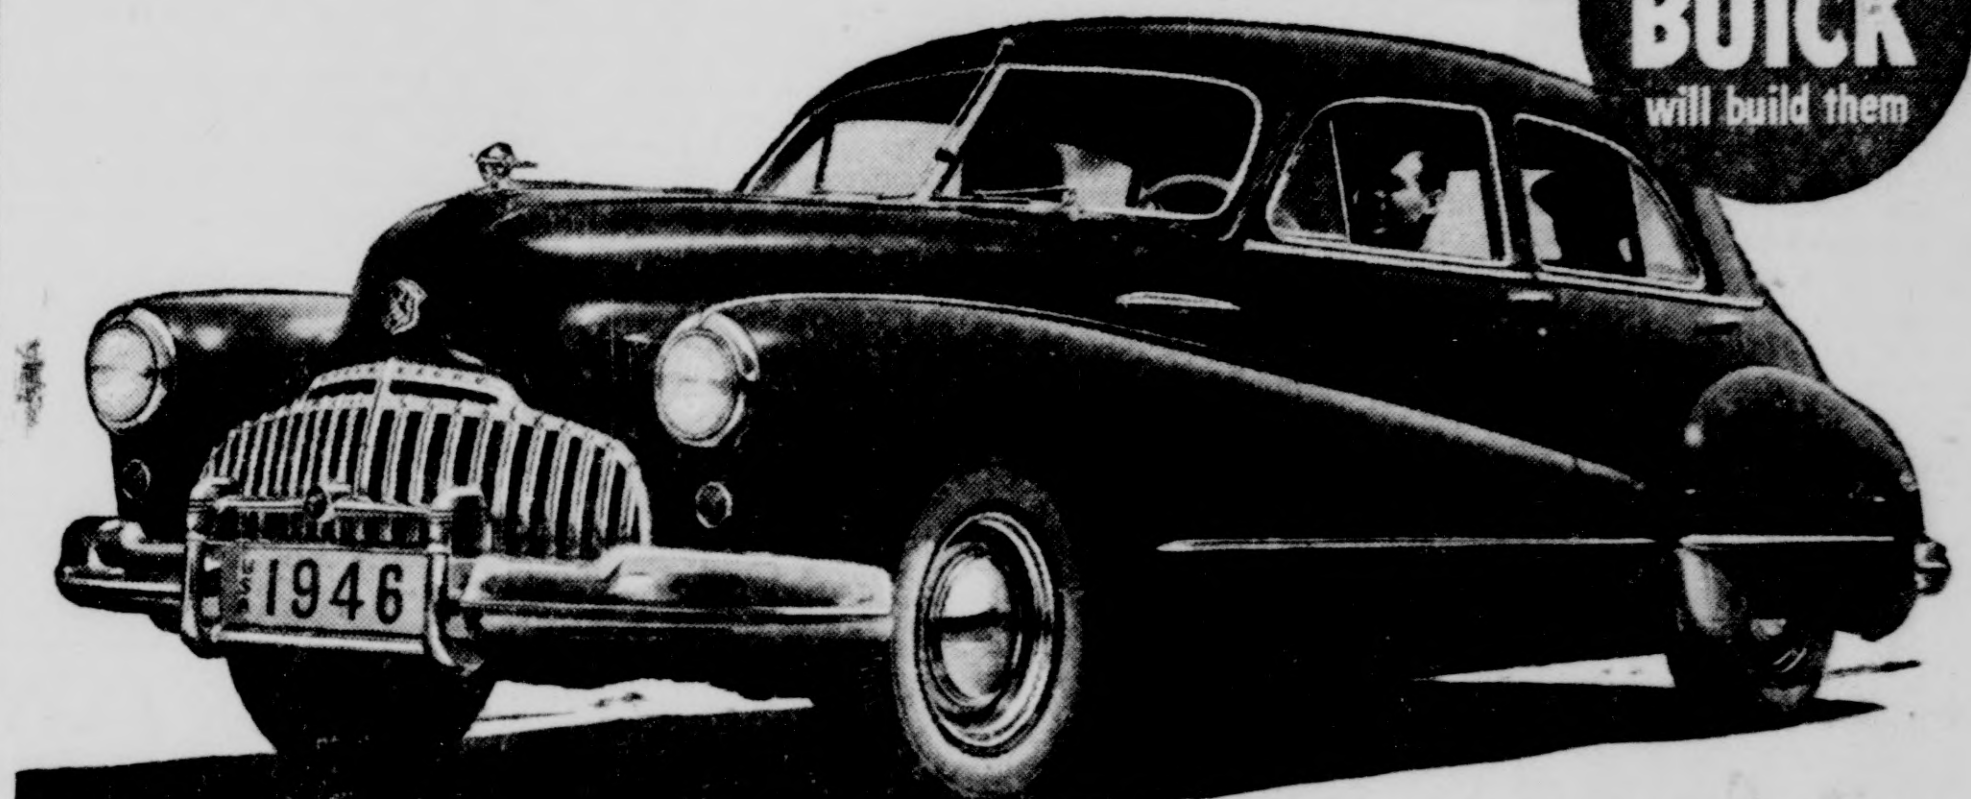

For the man who gets a '46 Buick has really got something—something certain to be a high spot in his car-owning history.

Risky Time To Lend Money

Reports that Secretary Byrnes has made known our government's unwillingness to lend money to Italy, pending solution of that country's reparations problems, suggests a sound policy which might well be extended to all other would-be borrowers until the confusion over postwar claims is resolved.

The British demand for eleven billions plus from Italy is, of course, merely a diplomatic grandstand play to emphasize the utterly out-of-this-world bills some Russian satellites pretend they can collect from about the poorest government and people on earth.

The Versailles reparations program of a generation ago was preposterous on its face, as ridiculous as the proverbial attempt to get blood out of a turnip if its consequences had not proved so tragic for all concerned, suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer. The performance doesn't call for an encore.

Our loan to Britain was to help world trade, but particularly our own. That was its sole justification. Loans to other war-stricken nations are warranted for their rehabilitation if the result is calculated to be beneficial to us.

But if our loans merely go to pay reparations by Italy or others they are doubly bad investments. They may promote activities by certain nations to our own hurt. We have a right to know how our money is to be used.

So "go slow on lending" is a wise rule for the present, and may be for the future as well, should current apprehensions be realized.

Costly Junk Pile

The waste of war is, of course, a matter of common knowledge but it is mathematically illustrated in the announcement that the government will dispose of 21,000 airplanes costing originally nearly four billion dollars, for six and one-half millions. The tremendous loss in values involved in this transaction, in addition to showing the price of armed conflict, is also striking evidence of the progress that has been made in the field of aviation since 1941.

For instance, these planes had any usefulness in either peace or war they never would have been sold for a song. But, being mostly bombers and fighters, they are already outmoded and cannot be of service to the armed forces. All that can be done with them is to send them to the salvage pile where they will be stripped of their accessories and their metal turned into junk.

Reporting on the sale, the War Assets administrator says that the planes have "recompensed their role as war weapons." That is an inescapable fact, but many a veteran flier will feel a twinge of sorrow as he ponders the fact that the "Susie Q" or the "Dolly Varden," which took him on so many missions and brought him safely home, is now to be broken up and its pieces widely scattered.

But these 21,000 planes are cluttering up fields that are needed for something else and disposal as surplus is the only course open.

Projects For The Future

Fortunately for the nation, President Truman is in no hurry to begin the two billion dollars' worth of new flood control, water power and navigation projects authorized in two bills passed by Congress before it adjourned. No funds have been set up for the program and the chief executive has emphasized that he does not intend to ask for any during the present fiscal year, although certain senators are demanding action.

Even if the government had money to spare to finance the projects, which it has not, this is no time to begin a large-scale program of public works. Such a program would merely drain away men and materials required for essential civilian production. It would interfere seriously with the attempt to meet the housing shortage. Dams and power stations would use men with the same skills and the same type of materials required to construct new dwellings.

The only excuse for making the authorizations now is to have ready a backlog of approved projects which the government can undertake in periods of economic depression and large-scale unemployment. This backlog already is of enormous size. Mr. Truman estimates that it would take 35 years, at the 1947 appropriation rate, to bring to completion all the river and harbor projects now authorized.

A few of these may be needed now. But the great majority should be by all means deferred until inflationary pressures diminish, until there is a lesser demand for labor and materials, and until the government is in a better budgetary position and taxes have been reduced.

A Safe Way To Save

Outside of the Navy there will be few regrets at the announcement that work is to be suspended on six partially-built warships, including a new fleet carrier as a result of President Truman's recent economy orders. If there is one thing the nation does not have noticeable need for at the moment it is more warships. This is one place where the government can surely economize without the slightest danger to national security.

The United States emerged from World War II with by far the most powerful fleet in the world and without a rival anywhere in sight to dispute its supremacy at sea. Russian sea power is negligible. The Japanese, German and Italian navies have been destroyed. The only nation with a navy of any size besides the United States is friendly Britain.

America must and will maintain her naval might but there is nothing to be gained by pouring money into new vessels which may be obsolete in five years as a result of the development of the atomic bomb. Britain, which takes as great pride in her navy as America does in hers, has already suspended construction of all new battleships. Harbors along both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts are cluttered with surplus warships temporarily retired from service.

Dollars available for defense might better go into development of the new weapons which will be used in any future war, and into maintaining the Navy, the Air Forces and the Army at such a level of efficiency that they will be able to go into action in an instant if they are needed. More ships are the last things the nation will need until some other nation challenges Uncle Sam at sea or it is revealed that the atomic age demands an entirely different type of fleet from the one America now possesses.

President Truman's friends claim he is as much of a New Dealer as F. D. Roosevelt despite the fact that he recently expressed alarm at the size of the national debt. Doesn't he remember the assuring words of President Roosevelt that the national debt doesn't matter because we owe it to ourselves?

The CPA has ordered seven million suits for men turned out of the last quarter of this year, but the CPA and CIO are still to be heard from.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THIS MOTHER NEEDS ADVICE

The mother who wrote the following does not need scolding. She needs sympathetic help and assurance that she can solve her problems by and by, even without the father there to help her.

"My daughter is 26 months old, and I am sorry to say, I cannot make her behave. It takes her at least two hours to go to bed at night, and I have to lie down with her. Otherwise she will scream and cough until she vomits. This procedure always follows if she does not get her own way in everything.

"She wants me to carry her in my arms and be with her every minute. I have to sleep with her, otherwise she cries and screams until I get back into bed with her. She refuses her food all the time. I cannot break her from the bottle.

"I have been living with my mother for the past five months, and she is spoiled terribly by her grandmother. I plan to move to my own house in a few weeks. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

The Psychologist's Reply

In part, I answered her. Fortunately, you are soon to move away from your mother. If I were you, I should not attack any of these problems until then. If the grandmother is likely to get into her hands occasionally, try to get into her hands my book, "Suggestions to Grandparents" (to be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.).

Don't worry much about the house. Let many things go. The child is of first importance. Read to her from illustrated nursery rhymes. Sing lullabies to her softly. Fondle her often during her waking hours. Try to enjoy her then. Keep the radio silent. Speak in quiet tones.

Begin sleep training with the afternoon nap. Choose an hour you will hold to rigidly. Tuck the child in calmly, tenderly. If she attempts to get up, smack her soundly on her bare bottom right away. If necessary, push her down and spank her well if she rises again. In case she will stay down for a few minutes, go outside the door leaving it ajar so you can see her if she rises again and spank her instantly.

Cries and Screams

Keep no account of her cries and screams. When she vomits in a rage, let her lie in it for a while. Do likewise when she is put to bed in the evening. Keep at this till she stays down. It is well, however, for you to remain in easy hearing distance till she is asleep. Have her crib by your bed. When she wakes at night, hold her hand or tenderly pat her to assure her you are there. But even if she cries all night, don't take her into bed with you.

By day, go walking with her and carry her about occasionally to see things. Then tell her you are tired and refuse to carry or amuse her for a certain period. When you say you won't, stick to it.

Better not try to get rid of the bottle for several more weeks, till after you have made considerable progress in other ways. Let her feed herself. Try neither to show nor even to feel any concern over her eating. Vary what you offer her. Give her a small portion, eat it at a time, and let her eat it or nothing at all till the next meal. Just don't expect quick results.

It might be well to have her checked by your doctor. I am enclosing "Eating Problems."

Just Folks

BIOGRAPHY

Do you doubt yourself, my brother, when the odds against you lie?

When you're halted by a failure, do you think it vain to try?

Are you easily disheartened? Seems your load too great to bear?

Do you fear a few more cruises? Do you call the Pates unfair?

Then take up some great man's story, read his early struggles through.

And you'll find he braved more hardships than the ones that trouble you.

You'll discover in the stories of our best and bravest men, Just as you they were disheartened and discouraged now and then.

They faced failure after failure, but they never once despaired.

They believed they'd come to triumph if it took to try once more to try.

They met grief and disappointment as they trudged the upward way.

But their spirits never faltered; They kept working night and day.

When you're feeling low in spirit, and you think that hope is vain.

Read how men of faith and courage, beaten back, began again.

You face nothing new in trouble, or in sorrow or despair.

Of the self-same hurts and setbacks every great man had his share.

He was tried and tried by failure; he was stopped, as now are you.

But he faced the odds against him and he dared to fight them through.

HISTORY REPEATS

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed By International News Service)

The stock market is so jumpy these days that the ticker tape is coming out curled.

Everything is "sell, sell, sell." One member rushed out on the floor shouting "I'll buy a thousand!" Other members asked "A thousand what?" He said "Aspirin... what else is good?"

The market is behaving like a man who forgot to take the pins out of his dress shirt. He didn't enter the jitter-bug contest but he's ahead on points.

It's as nervous as a Grable fan in the presence of her husband.

So many shares have changed hands that the FBI could never identify the thumb prints.

But there is no reason for alarm in the actions of the market. The odds on horses change a dozen times a day and the horse never knows it.

We must remember that this is not '39 when the bucket shops collapsed and we were left holding the bucket.

These days the stock market is spectator sport for most of us.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Henry Pu-yi, puppet ruler of Manchuria now on trial in Tokyo for collaborating with the Japs, expressed his humiliation before the Japanese emperor had presented him with a mirror and sword, sacred treasures of the Shinto religion.

The mirror symbolizes the soul of the sun goddess and personifies all of the nation's history. The sword, according to the legend, was taken from the tail of a dragon and signifies the nation's strength.

"How silly," said the fellow who showed me the story, "all these foolish symbols and superstitions." I don't think it's so silly at all. Haven't we plenty of our own symbols and superstitions?

The cross is a symbol to the Christians, the six-pointed star to the Jews.

White is a symbol of innocence, red a symbol of blood. Our flag is a symbol. The staff of Aesculapian is the symbol of medicine, the blindfolded lady with the scales the symbol of justice.

There are symbols and traditions and superstitions all around us. Many of them have lost their meaning, but it is good that there have been more material things in this material world of ours.

But superstitions—that is something else again. Only fools have superstitions. For instance, this morning I forgot my pocketbook.

I went back to my room, got the pocketbook, sat down and counted ten.

I know it would have been a very unlucky day for me if I hadn't done that.

I haven't the slightest idea what all these things mean. Probably nothing.

I know they are completely foolish, but I enjoy my superstitions, and I am going to stick to them. Yes, only fools have superstitions. But being a fool is one of the characteristics that make you human.

This being Friday, you'd better look out—and don't forget, next Friday is the 13th. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

The 28th Division... National Guard outfit... Pennsylvania of course... is now in the process of being reorganized. This might seem like a difficult subject as so many, many who would be of value to the 28th are so fresh from the service they don't want to hear, talk or read about joining another unit. However, there are some men who will be interested... Right now here in town there is opportunity for some very fine jobs in the Guard Unit... men who have served in War II have the privilege of enlisting for two years at the grade they were discharged... Master Sergeants are needed, Tech Sergeants, and on down the line... This Regiment that will be located here in Lawrence County will be an artillery unit... Here in New Castle, Headquarters Battery and Service Battery will be the main thing... So think about it men and maybe you will sign up... one drill period a week.

The Fat Salvage Campaign that has been gathering steam this past month seems to be producing... According to a report that we read yesterday from the headquarters of the Fat Salvage Committee... there has been a stop to the decline of fats... the last two weeks of August found that the increase was five percent... That means that you Mrs. Housewife have been saving fats and turning them in to your butcher... If you do save fats there is a better chance for all to have the necessary soap that we need. In addition to soaps there will be additional textile merchandise available. So do your part in peace as you did in war time... Turn in fats.

Just how many families in New Castle will absolutely not have a place to live this coming winter... Not people who would like to move... but people who will be put out on the street, come time their six or three months get-out order expires. If those who really need a place to live would register at the GNCA office in The Castleton... a definite picture could be formed of our local situation and plans could be started to eliminate the situation before it arrives in full. Some have already registered... will the others please do so now. Remember... only those who are absolutely in need of housing this coming winter... Thanks friends for reading.

Hand Overplayed Is Politicians' Belief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. ANOTHER evidence of the way in which the CIO has overplayed its hand, is the reaction to its recent announcement that after an analysis of Senatorial records, it had picked Senators Mead of New York and Guffy of Pennsylvania as the "perfect Senators"—the only two who, in the CIO view had completely admirable voting records.

INSTEAD of being elated over this unqualified commendation, the friends of the Messrs. Mead and Guffy were considerably depressed. Instead of enhancing their chances of success at the polls in November, it is generally viewed as damaging them. In other words instead of an asset the CIO endorsement appears a liability. That is an unpalatable statement well calculated to arouse resentment among those who have been absorbing the CIO's PAC pompous publicity about its political strength.

BUT IT is none the less true—and so far as the Messrs. Guffy and Mead are concerned, the reasons are obvious. Both of these gentlemen are candidates, Mr. Guffy for re-election as Senator in Pennsylvania and Mr. Mead for election as Governor in New York. The special CIO endorsement is not only exactly the thing they do not need but it comes at exactly the time to do them the most harm. But that they have not destroyed it. No one disputes that. They have been as consistently and obsequiously subservient to the CIO lobby as it was possible to be.

HOWEVER, that is not the point. The point is that they already have now—and have had for a long time—full support and approval of the CIO bosses. They have known for a long time they would get everything these could give them. But, that is not enough by a long shot to elect them this time and everybody, especially the Messrs. Guffy and Mead, knows it. This time they have no war, no Roosevelt popularity, and no WPA to help them in their states. This time they have to run on their own in a year when the trend is in the other direction. Starting out with full CIO support they have to get a lot more than that.

TO BE sure singled out by the CIO as its fair-haired darlings greatly adds to the difficulty of doing so. It brands them. It labels them. It pins a ribbon on them. It makes conspicuous the very thing they would like to make inconspicuous, and it arranges against them not only the solid business element, big and little, but renders hostile the rival labor factions and every individual in the State who is opposed to the closed shop and has been offended by the arrogance and greed of the labor bosses.

THERE are vastly more people in these two states than before who have been inconvenienced and (Continued on Page Seven)

Gripes Are Registered On Auto Gift To Williams

By BILL CUNNINGHAM

Gripes are being registered here from members of the constituency who think it practically heinous that Ted Williams can be given a new automobile to replace the one he smashed up going to Douglas, while they can't procure one for love or money. Some are from veterans and are generally resentful of the Great GI Bellsch. Some have a claim. They argue they need a car in connection with their jobs, and now have to walk or borrow from the in-laws.

As far as the Williams-Douglas incident goes, I not only chanced to be there when the deed was done, but it chanced to fall to my lot, as Master of Ceremonies, to make the original announcement, both of the accident and the committee proposed replacement. As the facts were presented to me, and were so duly relayed, the announcement was that Williams had smashed his car, but had not been hurt, and that a new car would be presented him on September 26 when the Red Sox had agreed to return and play the game that had that day been rained out.

COUNTRY Needs More Backbone As they go through people in Douglas and they may have rolled the new job up to him next day for all this department knows, or intends to try to discover. There are some automobiles here and there. Some people are getting them and young Mr. Williams chances to be a war veteran, too. I don't know how badly he needs an automobile, new or old, locally, and I wouldn't try to defend his greater worthiness against that of any other citizen, but if the burghers of the town of Douglas know where they can get a new automobile and they want to give it to Ted Williams, Clark Gable or to Hailie Selassie, I don't know what anybody can do about it except get out of the way. I personally am very weary of the oh-the-pity-of-it! approach. What this country needs is more backbone and less bellyache. The blame for the fact that you haven't got a new puddle splitter belongs squarely upon the knees of two gent names.

John L. Lewis and Walter Reuther. Joe McCarthy, famed ex-manager of the Yanks, is reported sound and well on his upper New York farm. When his resignation was announced, the stories made it sound as if he'd be lucky to live the week. Thanks can be rendered that the old September 13 starting date for Harvard Year at Princeton has been scrapped. Those eminent institutions were always that far behind the real, which meant that they always had just that many more football players hurt, and that just that many more explanations were necessary all the way to the end. "The Monday after Labor Day" was likewise the traditional starting time back in my day and generation.

Hunts Waterfall Picture Here is a peculiar thing. It's stated as a peculiar thing, and kindly leave it lay. I mean don't write offering to ease my ache for I'm stubborn over the patter at this point. For maybe six months, I've been on the quiet look for the picture of a waterfall. I expected to spend a reasonable amount of money and hoped to get a pretty print, a reproduction, or maybe one of those fake oil paintings. I wanted the waterfall big and impressive, and the picture large enough to frame—say 24x or 36x feet, that is. But as the saying is, find one! Evidently artists don't paint waterfalls.

Isn't it about time that we drew in our horns and say to the United Nations: "Take care of yourselves; we have done it so far, now it is up to you to finish the job?" If there is anything that is going to make the people of the United States isolationists, it is the conduct of Russia.

Everything up to date spells disaster for the United Nations, notwithstanding we are feeding all of Europe, particularly those who are enrolled in the Armies of Russia and her satellites and financing most every activity of the United Nations.

Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people. —Proverbs 14:34

There still are more than enough men to go around." Dr. Hope T. Eldridge turns to the figures and finds that there are now in the United States about 1,500,000 single and eligible males.

Recently a magazine writer tackled this topic from a different and non-statistical angle. It was argued that the man-shortage is a myth and that the girls created it. They are choosier than they should be. Their Prince Charming is modeled after the Hollywood hero and bears no resemblance to the boy who lives next door. It is a girl's privilege to be particular, of course, but the Census Bureau insists that she cannot fairly blame her spinsterhood on the vital statistics—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

There is something like a standing quarrel between the census authorities and the gloomy prophets who write and speak of a serious shortage of marriageable men likely to leave a lot of girls to unwilling spinsterhood.

It is admitted that women outnumber men in the United States, as they do in many other countries. There are known reasons for the disproportion of the sexes. Among the most important is the fact that women live longer than men. But the spinster of advanced years of the middle-aged widow is not serious competition, except in rare instances, for the girl in her twenties who wants to get married. In her own age bracket, says a Census Bureau analysis expert,

Scoff If You Will But Prong Locates Deep Well At Once

Despite scientific arguments, either pro or con, Wendell Wilson of R. D. 1, New Wilmington, is a firm believer in the ability of the peach prong to locate wells, and he has a deep well of good soft water as evidence.

Wilson who wanted a new well to go with his recently-built house, was advised by Henry A. Byler to drill at a certain place. He did so, and tapped a fine stream of water at the exact location and within a foot of the prophesied depth.

Naturally, Mr. Byler used a peach prong in his search for water. He took a branch of a peach tree and strolled around the field with it until the branch began to quiver and shake. Right there was his water.

This unscientific procedure has had criticism from many scoffers, among whom Mrs. Wilson was once classed.

"Not any more," she said. "I didn't believe it either until I saw it. The wells we used to have were not very good, whereas this is one of the best. Soft water, too."

The line to the peach orchard forms to the right.

New Coal Loading Record By B.&O.

An all-time high record for coal loading was made on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday, with a total of 4897 cars. This tops by 608 cars the previous high record of June 4, of this year, when the loading was 4289 cars.

Although the new record reflects the empty cars placed at the mines during the holiday weekend, it is basically due to the fact that the mines are trying to catch up on their huge backlog of orders. These indicate the current high industrial production of the country, the need of building up fuel reserves and the large demand for export coal.

Almost 42,000 of the total of more than 90,000 cars owned and leased by the Baltimore and Ohio are hopper cars used primarily for coal loading. In addition, the B & O expects delivery beginning during the fourth quarter of this year on 2,000 additional hoppers and has just asked for bids on another order of 2,000.

Silicones, synthetic greases derived from sand, brine, coal and oil, will not melt at temperatures hot enough to reduce high grade petroleum jelly to a liquid.

McNarney Claims U. S. Occupation Best Ruled Zone

FRANKFURT, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commanding U. S. troops in the European theatre, said Thursday that occupation progress in the U. S. zone of Germany is "far in advance of that in any other zone".

He added, however, that progress for Germany as a whole may be considered "nil".

McNarney lauded the conduct of the German government in the American zone, saying:

"It is operating on democratic principles and results obtained as of today offer a basis for optimism for a future Germany as a respected member of the society of nations."

The commanding general also praised the behavior of United States troops. He said:

"The American soldier is basically a good fellow. The United States soldier is rapidly reaching a stage where his country can be proud of the occupation troops."

Gen. McNarney said that the greatest problems facing occupation authorities are failure to reach a four-power agreement to place Germany on a single economic basis, and the influx of "persecuted races" from Poland.

He said he would like to regulate the influx of Jewish infiltrates but added:

"This problem must be regulated at the source."

COUNT SFORZA SAYS REPARATION DEMANDS ON ITALY JUSTIFIED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Count Carlo Sforza, former Italian foreign minister, said Thursday that Allied reparations demands on Italy are entirely justified.

At the same time Sforza, who called on President Truman at the White House, emphasized that he favored indemnity to nations which had suffered "material losses" in the war as a result of Italian Fascist aggression.

The 72-year-old Italian statesman, who spent three years of exile from Mussolini's regime in the United States from 1940 to 1943, conferred with President Truman for fifteen minutes on the current Italian situation.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE IN KEEPING PANAMA DEFENSES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Gen. Frank T. Hines, U. S. ambassador to Panama, said Thursday that negotiations for continued occupation of defense sites between the United States and Panama are proceeding satisfactorily.

Hines arrived in Washington by air today for consultation with the state department on a reported stalemate in the current talks on an extension of U. S. occupation of the bases in Panama.

The United States last Friday asked Panama for further temporary use of the bases in Panama which would require a revision of the 1942 agreement between Panama and this country for wartime occupation of Canal Zone defense areas.

Airport Troubles

Are Analyzed By Airport Analysts

DETROIT, Mich.—Having any airport trouble these days? Does your hanger hurt from lack of help, and do you lack help because you can't afford to pay for it? Are your landing strips in a rundown condition? Does your ramp feel empty most of the time?

Do you suffer from a constant feeling of isolation and insolvency? Ahhhh, yess. Uh-huh. Just as I thought.

Airport Consultant

What you need—regardless of whether your airport is city, state or privately owned—is to call in an airport analyst and consultant.

In case you didn't know, there were such experts in the field of aviation today, you just haven't kept touch with what's happening to a lot of ex-Air Corps fliers who've swapped their 50-mission-crash bonnets for neat snap-brim felts.

One such is tall, black-haired, broad-shouldered Leigh Fisher who decided, some time after leaving Uncle Sugar's employ, that there were a lot of airports lying around the country which could fast develop into white elephants unless something were done about them.

Moreover, he found that many communities which were first inclined to be delighted at the prospect of having huge government-built airports at their disposal suddenly weren't so sure they didn't have hold of the trunk of just such a white elephant.

Private Flying Too Little
"As things now stand," asserts 26-year-old Leigh, "there just isn't enough private flying yet to support the average air terminal, if it attempts to exist on air commerce alone. Airports have to quit being isolated in an area and have to start blending their business into that of the community. That's the first and basic step everywhere."

"Since Leigh and his associates are not airport engineers, financiers, lawyers or the like, they do not compete with any old-line endeavors of the aviation industry. Even so, they have a finger in all those pies from a consulting point of view.

Actually, they are willing to tackle any advisory phase of the job necessary to build, remodel, rearrange or streamline any airport until it becomes a paying proposition. They may involve problems of management, operations, financing, field development, public relations, merchandising, service or design.

For example, most small airports today have little facilities for feeding the chance hungry traveler. In fact, the current gag is that an aerial wanderer is more likely to "die of starvation than anything else."

Can't Support Restaurant
"The reason is obvious," young Fisher says. "Most such airports have discovered they can't support a restaurant on air traffic business alone. The answer is simple. They have to set up a restaurant which will attract local, community and passer-by trade. With a little advertising and a good restaurant manager—plus the natural attraction of any airport's atmosphere—they soon can have restaurants doing a thriving business, of which the air travel trade will be only a part."

Leigh isn't just talking through his hat. He's proved that point. He's proved others, too. For instance, many ports now are using countless small T-hangers, rather than fewer large ones. If the airport is located along a main highway, Leigh shows them how to double in brass with their T-hanger business.

To avoid wasting space, he has them build small cottages in that extra area between the T-bars. Pilots, private and commercial, thus can spend the night without ever leaving the field if they so choose—a not inconsiderable factor in an airport's favor during this unhappy housing period!

Modern Devices
If, however, sundown comes and the cottage and T-hangers are not full, one end of them opens wide to make an auto garage, the "tourist cabins" light flashes on out along the highway and the airport starts drawing its business from the motorists.

Ditto gas business. For Decatur, Ill., Fisher has recently re-arranged the airport fueling station so that it caters to both plane and auto customers—thus making it possible to keep attendants on full-time duty, rather than forcing some high-skilled mechanic to drop more important and expensive work to handle the sporadic air trade.

One thing Leigh stresses everywhere, regardless of whether he's working on the job involved: It's going to be a new air terminal, try to locate it near a main-traveled road. Then you can make it pay a profit even during dull aerial periods by other local services.

Leigh gets all kinds of problems. Recently pilots complained to him that a small airport was charging entirely too much for gasoline. The airport manager, however, complained he couldn't operate without that extra money. He and Leigh went into a huddle.

A short time later, pilots were happy to note the airport's gas price had dropped a nickel. The manager was happy also because, by instituting a few extra services, plus a ramp or parking fee, he was getting the same amount of money.

As has been mentioned before, you can't beat an ex-G. I. for figuring the angles—even as an airport expert!

Martin Demands Tightening Of Highway Laws

Strict Enforcement Of Regulations, Elimination Of "Fix" Urged By Governor

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS).—Strict enforcement of Pennsylvania's highway regulations and elimination of "the fix" in traffic law violations was demanded today by Gov. Edward Martin.

In letters to Pennsylvania mayors, Safety Directors, Burgesses, Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police, Governor Martin emphasized that "no law is stronger than its enforcement," he stated.

"Too many violations, from double parking to driving while intoxicated, are 'fixed' through personal friendship or political influence. Every time a violator escapes paying the penalty by the 'fix' it creates disrespect for all laws. In addition, police officers become discouraged and lax in making arrests when they know that no action will be taken.

"In view of the alarming increase in traffic accidents since V-J Day, nothing should be left undone which will help to lower our accident rate. Strict law enforcement is a basic principle if we are to succeed in our efforts. I urgently request your wholehearted cooperation in the enforcement of all traffic laws and regulations.

"The laws on our statute books are ample to cover practically all phases of the traffic safety problem, and are reinforced by many local ordinances which add strength to the basic laws.

"Newspaper editorials and comment both before and after the highway safety conference held in Harrisburg August 19 point definitely in one direction.

"There must be stricter enforcement of the law if lives are to be saved."

Governor Martin's highway safety committee met at the State Capitol two weeks ago to consider plans for reducing the commonwealth's motor vehicle death toll.

The state revenue department reported that 813 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the first half of 1946.

Heredity experts estimate that one person in 1,000 in the United States is an albino.

USED FAT SALVAGE CHIEF HOPE FOR MORE SOAP AND SUPPLIES

World Scarcity of Fats and Oils Means That Kitchen Grease Saving Is Principal Source of Additional Supplies

Hundreds of letters are received every day by the Department of Agriculture and the American Fat Salvage Committee regarding the relation between fat salvage and soap. "It takes a week or even two to save a pound of used cooking grease," these letters say, "and that is a lot of work." "Where," the writers continue in the next line, "is the soap my used fat is making?"

When a housewife turns a pound of used cooking fat over to the meat dealer, she enables industry to make six bars of laundry soap that it otherwise could not make, according to the figures released by Washington experts.

One pound of used fat salvage is enough to help make approximately one large box of packaged laundry soap—the kind that is currently hard to get—or six bars of laundry soap, or about five bars of toilet soap.

Increases Supply

On the basis of these figures if a housewife turns over to the meat dealer one pound of used cooking fat, she makes for herself two weeks' supply of packaged soap or five weeks' supply of toilet soap or eight weeks' supply of laundry bar soap. It is pointed out by The American Fat Salvage Committee.

Further, if it had not been for fat salvage, consumers would either have gotten thirteen per cent less soap in 1945, or the government would have had to divert food fats to the manufacture of soap. During

Plan To Erect State Landmarks Beginning Monday

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS).—The erection of 500 markers memorializing historic Pennsylvania incidents and sites will begin September 9, it was announced today by the State Historical and Museum commission.

The first plaque will be located on U. S. Route 22 near the Dauphin-Lebanon county line honoring residents of that area who went on record favoring secession from Great Britain in 1774, according to Attorney General James H. Duff, chairman.

Other sites selected by the commission included frontier forts, military campaigns, the first oil wells and railroads, canals and famous birthplaces, such as that of Daniel Boone in Berks county, Duff said.

The markers will be 42 by 30 inches in size with blue backgrounds and gold inscriptions, he reported. They will be mounted on concrete posts.

Duff said funds were available to purchase 500 additional markers next year.

damaged by the epidemic of strikes fostered by the CIO sponsors of the Messrs. Mead and Guffy and who feel revolted at the idea of their senators or governors being the publicly proclaimed lackeys of the labor lobby. It is easy to understand that with this CIO dollar thus publicly clamped around their necks, the efforts of the Messrs. Mead and Guffy to gain support outside of the CIO ranks will have to be herculean, indeed.

ALREADY up against exceedingly tough opposition and with the odds against them, the Messrs. Mead and Guffy were hardly prepared for this endorsement. Though they have certainly earned it they have exhibited no enthusiasm over its receipt. Certainly it will not get them a vote they did not already have and it is very likely to lose them a great many they possibly might have got. It looks as though the Messrs. Mead and Guffy had been done in by their overzealous patrons.

Molotov Returns To Paris Parley

PARIS, Sept. 5.—(INS).—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned to Paris from Moscow on Thursday after a two-day stopover in Berlin as U. S. Secretary of State James P. Byrnes left the German capital for Stuttgart to deliver an important policy speech.

Minor pyrotechnics featured the various committee meetings of the peace conference.

Considerable heat was engendered at the Italian commission over the question of allowing Albania to sit in but the commission finally adopted a French resolution permitting all but former enemy states to sit at the table when presenting claims, or during general discussions.

This gave Albania a seat.

The Greek delegation cleverly turned Soviet Russia's own arguments against her in justifying Greek demands for reparations from Italy.

Italy attacked Russia with 300,000 men, spokesmen said, but attacked Greece with 500,000. Consequently, since Russia is demanding reparations of $100,000,000, the Greek demands are not only justified but moderate.

"I DON'T LIKE IT"

The problem of feeding children is sometimes rather difficult.

We can figure out some wonderful diet lists. We calculate on calories and protein and starch and vitamins and minerals.

We prepare a meal which is right up to the minute. We are sure that it is just exactly what Janie should eat. But Janie says "I don't like it."

Mom is disappointed. Dad says that Janie must eat it. Grandma says she is spoiled.

Janie has her likes and dislikes the same as other people. If things are distasteful to her she cannot help it.

There are many different kinds of food. There are many different ways of preparing the same food. Janie's tastes will change after a while too. She will like things which she does not like now.

Patience and consideration and humility are necessary ingredients of diet lists.

PARENTAL INDIFFERENCE

"Perhaps it is because I, most regretfully, am childless that I notice parents' indifference to their children's little problems. They may see unimportant, but to the children they are extremely important. It must be disappointing to the youngsters to be treated so casually. This to me, is a lack of parental guidance which decreases the morale of the very young. What do you think?"

Answer: The little social affairs of children are of major importance to them. Their invitations to evening and weekend parties cause them tremendous excitement. But I, too, see many parents who, when their children approach them to discuss their proffered dates and invitations, shoo them away with an "Oh, I'm too busy. Don't bother me about silly trifles."

Mothers of girls should especially encourage their daughters to confide in them. There is nothing more refreshing than the young girl who discusses her social affairs with her elders. And the mother of a frank, talkative daughter is lucky indeed.

The foundation for such confidence should be laid during her childhood. There is no better way of establishing this understanding than by mother's lending a willing ear to each chapter in the day's agenda of her children. Some of it may be boring to sophisticated minds, but this attention does "pay off" with interest in later years.

Parents who thus suppress that camaraderie that should be the strongest link holding them to their children are laying the foundation for a lonely, unloved middle life and old age.

Question: Is it the Godparents' duty to supply the baby's christening clothes? I am to be a Godmother soon and wondered if I am required to do this.

Answer: No, indeed. You may give the child any gift you choose, which may be a christening dress or coat but not necessarily the entire ensemble.

Life In Prison Plea Brings In Many Letters

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—(INS)—James R. Hoffman's letter to Judge Joseph Tumolillo two weeks ago—requesting life imprisonment because he had no friends—has won him international comradeship—and one dollar.

This news came from the municipal court judge's office today as mail was about to be forwarded to Hoffman at the Moyamensing prison, where he is undergoing a mental examination pending a forgery sentence.

Hoffman—who has gone under the alias of William O. Stratton—and who also has spent 28 of his 46 years in New Jersey prisons on 20 different charges—has been receiving loads of mail.

The mail has been coming from various points, including Milwaukee, Atlantic City, Sioux Falls, and Ontario—all offering him friendship, solace, and religious guidance.

One Dollar Bill Sent
For instance, there's a 15-page letter from a lady in Sioux Falls. This one contained the one dollar bill and four pages from the Bible to aid Hoffman in conquering what the lady termed "the overwhelming strength of the devil who is the author of all wrongs."

And there was a picture postcard from Atlantic City—signed amen. This one was addressed to the judge himself and it read: "Excellency—One hundred and forty million people are watching the result of that unfortunate man's case. Let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

Hoffman had been convicted two weeks ago before Judge Tumolillo and as he stood at the bar awaiting sentence, he forwarded to the jurist a single-page pencilled letter asking that he be given a life sentence.

After reading the letter, Judge Tumolillo ordered a mental examination for Hoffman.

State Questions

License Validity Of Plastic Surgeon

Hearing At Capital To Determine Whether Or Not Surgeon Is Honest Or Quack

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Henry J. Shireson, Philadelphia plastic surgeon, was slated today to answer the state board of medical licensure's charges that he lacked sufficient schooling to practice legally.

Shireson has been accused of misrepresentation in applying for his license 36 years ago. The two-day hearing at Harrisburg was called by the board to permit him to show cause why his permit should not be suspended or revoked.

State's witnesses yesterday produced records of Shireson's matriculation at the University of Maryland Medical college during the 1903-04 and 1904-05 terms, but pointed out definite proof of his attendance at a medical school during the preceding and succeeding years was unobtainable.

Two of Shireson's former teachers at the Southern Homeopathic college testified the surgeon was one of their students for only a "short time" during the 1905-06 term.

A certificate submitted by Shireson indicated he "graduated" from the Maryland Medical school in 1906.

Lt. Samuel Smith, state police document examiner, told the board he discovered 28 points of similarity between the writing on the diploma and Shireson's application for a license.

The state's attorney, Deputy Attorney General Harrington Adams, sought to show that the college had no record of a Dean "C. B. Smith," the name listed on Shireson's diploma.

St. Mary's Sodality Has Fall Meeting

Rev. Fr. Ignatius Koller, Spiritual Director, Addresses Young Ladies Sodality

At St. Mary's Sodality meeting Wednesday evening, Frances Cunningham was elected treasurer to succeed her sister, Honora, who is now in training at Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh.

In speaking to the Sodality after their summer vacation, Father Koller said: "Sodality above all should be distinguishable from everyone else in the parish and by their example and suggestion should be a wonderful influence upon others in inducing them to come out to communion Sunday and for meetings. No person can ever know enough about the faith and Catholic religion. Prayer plus knowledge is the theme or touchstone that will make Sodality different."

"This year the Sodality will put forth a new effort to increase the knowledge of faith, for with more and better knowledge the whole outlook on life will be changed."

In connection with this, special groups on marriage, the catechism, the Bible and various church services are being inaugurated for the Sodality to participate in.

Afterwards Nellie Carrigan was presented with a gift by Mary Lowers on behalf of the Sodality. Nellie entered the Novitiate of the Sisters of St. Joseph at Baden, Pa., on the eighth of this month.

Block captains will again this year be in charge of notifying Sodality of all activities. Chief among these will be that future meetings will be held after novena devotions on the first Tuesday of each month, the next to be on October 8.

Stock Market Break Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1946, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 6.— Selling stocks is very different from going to the bank to draw out money. When you do the latter, the bank gives you cash from its reserves and you immediately take it home with you. It will always be the amount of your check—no more, no less.

When you sell stocks, the broker must hunt around to find somebody who will buy your stock. When the market is booming, somebody will probably pay you more than the stock cost you; but on a declining market, he has more difficulty finding buyers. This is especially true today when buyers must pay cash.
This largely eliminates the little people as, too often, only well-to-do people have the ready money. During August most of these wealthy people are away on vacations and have forgotten the stock market.

Thus, it has been especially difficult for brokers to find cash buyers during the past month. This, in my judgment, is the main explanation of the August market break.

Certainly there is nothing in the present business situation to justify declining prices. Every company has tremendous unfilled orders and the banks are over-flowing with idle money. It should take two or three years to fill the demand for automobiles; while the building industry has not yet got under way. It is true that in previous periods of prosperity the market has turned downward during the first half of the prosperity era; but history does not always repeat itself. Certainly, today history is not repeating itself in any category.

With the expected increase in 1946 dividends, certain stocks now appear to be bargains. Carefully selected stocks can be purchased today at prices and yields which should serve as good permanent investments, irrespective of market conditions. Suggestions as to selecting stocks and "switching" so as to be prepared for World War III if it should come, will be covered in next week's column.

To offset the effect of a World War III there are several possibilities which every investor should carefully consider before selling stocks today. The first of these is the elections which come November fifth. Present indications are that the Republicans will get absolute control of the House and possibly working control of the Senate. This may lay the foundations for a complete Republican victory in 1948. I am not a politician but merely a statistician and, hence, you cannot bank 100 per cent on this forecast. However, either before or directly after November fifth we should have much higher prices.
If a Republican president should be elected in 1948, stocks could "go through the roof."

Russian Revolution Ahead?
Something may happen in Europe to greatly improve the situation.
If the British and American diplomats stick together and refuse to get tired out, Russia may be sensible and agree to fair terms and yet secure freedom of the seas for all nations. The death of Stalin or a people's revolution in Russia should make the stock market boom. Moreover, it is very probable that the Allies are now planning and encouraging a Russian revolution. This is the reason for the "iron curtain" and the desire of the Russians to tie up the Danube river and Balkan states.
It explains why our flyers were shot down.

Perhaps the Allies may sign peace treaties without Russia. With our supply of atomic bombs—and I assume we are shipping some of these to England—and with the possibilities of bacteriological and chemical warfare to kill both people and crops—World War III may be started by England rather than by Russia although we would probably get involved in it. If England should strike first, this could be very bullish on the market.

Labor Outlook
Some persons are selling stocks on account of further strike threats.
These do not worry me market-wise. When production catches up with consumption the cost-of-living will again decline and labor's main argument will have been knocked in the head. Furthermore, as the "32-20 clubs" dissolve and veterans and their wives again enter the labor market, a surplus may take the place of the present shortage. This will be another thing to keep labor leaders sensible.

Assails Handling Of D.P.'s In U. S. Occupation Zone

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The handling of displaced persons in Germany was assailed by a returned Philadelphia UNRRA official who charged the army seems more concerned over the welfare of the Germans than refugees.

The statement was made by Barent P. Landstreet, on his return after a year in Bavaria as a United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation
Administration welfare officer.

He asserted that American military officers are lax in their concern with the displaced persons of Allied countries.

"One of the problems was food, and food for the displaced persons came from army officials," he explained.

Special Training For 278 Officers In U. S. Air Corps

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. — (INS) —
The army air forces announced today that 278 specially qualified air corps officers will enter a total of 30 civilian educational institutions this fall to study subjects ranging from theology to nuclear physics.

When the AAF educational program was announced, more than 900 officers volunteered. A quota of 500 eligibles was set, and the educational institutions to be attended were selected.

All of the studies are in postgraduate subjects.

In announcing the program, Maj.
Gen. E. E. Partridge, assistant chief of air staff for operations and training, said:

"The AAF program of graduate study in specialized fields is an absolute necessity.

World War II revealed the great need for officers with educational background in scientific and professional fields. This need will become even greater as air warfare becomes increasingly complex."

Schools to be attended included
Ohio State, Georgetown university, University of Pittsburgh and Temple university.

Jewish Family Reunited After Eight Year Lapse

McKEESPORT, Pa. — (INS) — A Jewish family which fled Germany to England when Hitler marched into Vienna in 1938 has been reunited for the first time in eight years in Duquesne by a visit from a fourth member of the family.

The Biers family lived in Munich when the German anti-semitism campaign was at its peak. When war seemed inevitable they fled to England.

It wasn't long before the family began migrating to the United States. Moritz Bier was the first to move in 1938. Two years later, a sister, Helen, followed and then the father, Joseph, came in 1944.

And now Max has arrived from London but is expected to remain only a short time before returning.

Delegates Bring Healthy Appetites

CIRCLEVILLE, O. — (INS) — Visitors to the recent 29th annual meeting of the Churches of Christ in Christian union at Circleville, brought their appetites along.

The committee in charge of food said that servings in the big camp dining room required 1,700 pounds of hamburger, 400 pounds of wiener, 540 pounds of fish, 850 pounds of fresh ham, 200 pounds of cheese, 2,700 pounds of roast beef, 5,000 pounds of potatoes, 1,900 pies, and $1800 worth of ice cream.

WAA SELLS OVER 300,000 WORTH OF AUTO PARTS

CLEVELAND — (INS) — War Assets Administration sales increased to more than $300,000 worth of automotive parts during the month of July under a new plan permitting purchasers to deal directly with the regional offices.

S. G. Backman, regional director, announced in his monthly report in Cleveland an increase in sales each week from $9,675 to $185,211 in less than a month.

Buyers may now order from any one of the three regional offices located in the Northern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania area. These include the Cleveland, Pittsburgh and

New Maps Of City Are Now Available

Done in colors and showing a wealth of information, a new map of the City of New Castle has been brought out by the Greater New Castle Association. The maps arrived Thursday and will be valuable to both residents of this city and visitors here. It is the most detailed map of the city ever to be printed and fills a need.

All main highways going through the city are shown in red, other streets in blue. Parks, golf courses and cemeteries are shown in green. The left side of the map is the city streets with numbers after showing where they are located. A list of miscellaneous points of interest are shown. In addition to the city, the map shows the street layout of South New Castle Boro. of Shenando, Neshaunock and Taylor townships and a small diagram of West Pittsburg. Each point of interest is numbered and the corresponding number shown on the map makes it easy to locate any of the spots of interest mentioned. The map will undoubtedly be popular for it shows in compact form, the city, the streets and highway and points of interest.

V. A. Seeking To Reduce Claims

Drive To Reduce Unemployment Is Being Waged Across Nation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. — (INS) — The veterans administration disclosed today that it is conducting a nationwide drive to reduce "chiseling" among ex-GIs drawing jobless pay. A VA spokesman said results of a survey show that more than 50 per cent of the veterans on unemployment rolls have drawn compensation for more than 10 consecutive weeks. All state unemployment compensation commissions have been asked to furnish the names of veterans carried on the jobless rolls for more than 10 weeks.

Will Probe Cases The spokesman explained that such names, together with the case histories of the individuals, are referred to the United States employment service for re-interview of the veterans. He added that the principal objective of the survey is to clear veterans from the unemployment rolls as far as possible and admitted that a number of instances of "chiseling" had been uncovered.

This included the drawing of unemployment compensation by ineligible persons and the refusal of some jobless pay claimants to look for work.

State unemployment authorities have been asked to conduct independent surveys among veterans who have received compensation for 20 weeks or more, a group which according to the latest available figures represents 23 per cent of the total number of claimants on the rolls.

County Detective And State Police In 'Raid' On Thursday Afternoon

Acting under the instructions of District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson, County Detective Charles G. Ross and three state policemen visited the New Castle Country Club Thursday afternoon, and confiscated several pieces of gambling equipment and an undetermined amount of money.

The club was holding its Field Day which was attended by hundreds of men, among them many visitors from adjoining cities and counties. As a part of the afternoon's entertainment some equipment was set up at which money could be wagered. The equipment was not operated by outsiders but by members of the club.

Mr. Donaldson said today he had had complaints there was gambling being permitted at the Field Day and had acted accordingly. Cash confiscated amounted to about $90 with an undisclosed amount in the several slot machines confiscated.

A petition will be presented to court for the confiscation and destruction of the equipment. The money will go into the county treasury.

BUILDING PERMIT

Only permit issued today at the city bureau of building was to Paul Pratt for a one-story concrete block storeroom, at an estimated cost of $500.

Tuberculosis Workers Attend Pittsburgh Meet

Tuberculosis workers of this county were present at a meeting of all staff members of western Pennsylvania held in Pittsburgh Thursday under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis society. Purpose of the meeting was to form final plans for the annual Christmas Seal sale for the National Tuberculosis Association.

The group, representing 20 counties, agreed that the forty year fight for control of tuberculosis has entered the eradication stage. In the seal sale some 2,500 local associations retain most of the sale money raised for local work, such as mass chest X-raying, clinics, nursing, rehabilitation and health education.

Begin Overhaul On Vessels From Bikini Bomb Test

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. —(INS)—The atomic age born a year ago made itself felt today at the Navy's Hunters Point shipyard in San Francisco.

For the first time in the annals of shipyard repair, workmen faced the task of overhauling vessels which have been subjected to atomic bomb radiation.

The ships—five destroyers—participated in the Bikini atom bomb tests. They arrived on San Francisco bay two days ago and will be docked today.

Navy officials said every precaution will be taken to prevent workmen from harm. Every part of the ship will be checked with Geiger counters to detect any possible radioactivity still clinging to the destroyers.

Although it was emphasized that there is a very remote chance that underwater surfaces of the vessel are still radioactive, actual repair work will be done in a special floating drydock towed from Mare Island, Calif., navy yard, to prevent contamination to regular drydocks.

Dr. F. H. Rodenbaugh, San Francisco radiological expert who was present at the Bikini tests, said the one possible chance of danger is from sea water lines which may have sucked in radioactive particles from Bikini lagoon.

Dr. Rodenbaugh will work with inspectors in checking every nook and cranny of the destroyers with the Geiger counters, so sensitive they can detect the comparatively faint radiations from an ordinary luminous dial watch.

Motor Bike Fad At Lake Resorts

ASHTABULA, O.—(INS)—A new fad is sweeping into popularity among the young and old in summer resort areas along the shores of Lake Erie.

The gadget is a motor-bike, actually an ordinary bicycle equipped with a small motor. It numbers a 16-year-old girl and a 70-year-old man among its dozens of Ashtabula users.

One gallon of gasoline usually will run the motor-bike 125 miles although one customer reported 146 miles to the gallon. The motor requires less than two ounces of oil each 100 miles, with operation costs reported to average 13 cents for 60 miles.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

A WOMAN, CATHERINE, DE MEDICI, ORDERED ONE OF THE GREATEST HUMAN BUTCHERIES OF ALL TIME, THE MASSACRE OF ST. BARTHOLOMEW, WHICH BEGAN AUG. 24, 1572—70,000 PERSONS WERE SLAUGHTERED, INCLUDING WOMEN AND CHILDREN (FRANCE)

FINISHED U.S. CURRENCY COSTS THE GOVERNMENT ABOUT $.0082 A NOTE

ONE OF THE MOST GENERAL LEGENDS OF THE SEA IS THAT OF THE FLYING DUTCHMAN—THE STORY HAS ALMOST AS MANY VARIATIONS AS THERE ARE SEAFARING NATIONS. THE APPEARANCE OF THE GHOST SHIP IS USUALLY CONSIDERED AN ILL OMEEN IN ALL THE STORIES. A SHIP AND ITS CREW ARE UNABLE TO MAKE PORT BECAUSE OF THE CREW'S MISDEEDS

IN THE OPEN

A barred owl hooted from the valley depths edging the deep woodland. It was a sort of questioning hoot, echoing mournfully through the darkened timberland. Suddenly, as though in answer, came the plaintive call of the wood pecker from the deep covers far up the steep hillside. A whip-poor-will joined in from a roadside resort farther down the valley, shattering the quiet of the late gloaming with a few rapid pronouncements.

A trained ear would instantly have noted that of the three vocalists only a staccato music of the whip-poor-will was genuine. The hooting of the barred owl and the unusual night singing of the pewee were patently man-made imitations. Happily there were no trained outdoorsmen handy to break the spell. This deep-woods night music was intended only for the ears of some 50 youngsters, of 12 years and under, who stood in silent Indian file on the trail by the wide stream edging the timberland.

Owl Speaks
The owl spoke again from the thickets. Now a new sound came down through the dark forest aisles to tingle the spines of those 50-bug-eyed kids. It was the rhythmic throbbing of an Indian drum, accenting in measured tempo the fearsome mystery of the night and the unknown trail ahead. At a quiet word from the leader the line moved, proceeding slowly, each youngster falling in at ten-foot intervals.

Completely blacked out, the file felt its way along the pitch-dark trail. All talking was banned. The only sounds were the occasional snapping of a twig and a faint splashing as the group stumbled across the creek. The trail careened sharply up the hillside, making a switchback progression toward the throbbing drum. By the bole of a great forest tree stood an erect figure, clad only in breech cloth, silently scanning each member of the passing party.

Finally the trail wound its way onto a "bench" not half way to the ridge. Here some earlier axe work had cleared a small area and a rustic Indian council circle had been constructed. Silently the neophytes came up the dark trail and filed, wide-eyed, into this split log circle. The drum had stopped its singing, but the dim starlight revealed four silent figures standing, arms folded, about a central fire place, with logs fresh-laid and ready for the torch. Other mysterious figures, scantily garbed, stood erect and silent before the chief's seat.

Real Stuff of Boyhood
This is the real stuff of boyhood—the kind of outdoors pageantry which delights the soul of every normal youngster. During the eerie half hour on the darkness trail every one of those kids was at heart a savage redskin, en route to make big talk at a war council deep in the forest. Panthers lurked there in the shadows and the evil ghost of renegade Simon Girty lay in camp across the ridge.

In the dim light of the council circle the brave warriors took their place and stood quietly. At a signal from the chief all hands were raised to the skies and the Omaha prayer to Wakonda was solemnly sung. Promptly the torch was applied and the great central fire, well spiced with kerosene, roared into full brilliant blaze, driving back the encircling shadows and revealing a motley crew of the widest looking Indians to ever sit in high council in that historic valley.

The firelight disclosed four youths, stripped to the waist, standing before four compass fires set properly about the central fire. In turn each of these young chieftains fired a torch at the great central fire of Wakonda, then impressively lighted the four smaller fires of virtue, truth, courage and love. At this juncture the Medicine Man rose up and opened the council with the necessary smoke offerings to the four winds.

Ceremonies End
With this, the tribal ceremonies were ended and the small circle there on the wooded hillside became a songfest, followed by campfire stunts and the eager roasting of fat "hot dogs" on long whittled switches. At scheduled bunk-time the whole group stood in silent prayer, as the bright stars winked down at the dying embers of the fire. Then the return journey down the trail, this time with all flashlights going, and a tired rush for bunks and warm blankets.

There is a great deal of the small boy in every man who loves the outdoors. At some inconvenience to his own schedules he will travel great distances and exert great effort just to help make certain a gang of swell kids get a full share of the decent thrills of boyhood. Mosquitoes are tough on the naked epidemic and you feel sort of silly playing the role of an Indian sachem, but its worth it just to watch those kids come Indian filing up that trail and sidling cautiously into the council circle.

The great mass of Arctic air which has been making the days and nights unattractively cool through the countryside has apparently put some of the birds off schedule. I lay on my back on the sun-warmed sidewalk during a recent evening and watched a great gathering of chimney swifts plummeting about over the valley. These graceful fliers usually group this way when preparing for their Fall departure, which is not normally due for a month or so. I have a suspicion they were indulging in an evening meal of flying midges. The air was full of these dancing insects, in such incredible numbers as to create distinct humming sound.

Report Is Made On Animal Deaths In A-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. —(INS)—The navy revealed today that 60 per cent of the animals placed aboard target ships for the underwater atom bomb test at Bikini Atoll died of radiation sickness, while only 20 per cent subjected to the air blast were killed.

In the underwater tests 20 pigs were placed in the medical quarters of four ships, and 200 white rats were distributed in various places on the same vessels. All of the pigs died of radioactive poisoning. Some 126 rats had died by the middle of August.

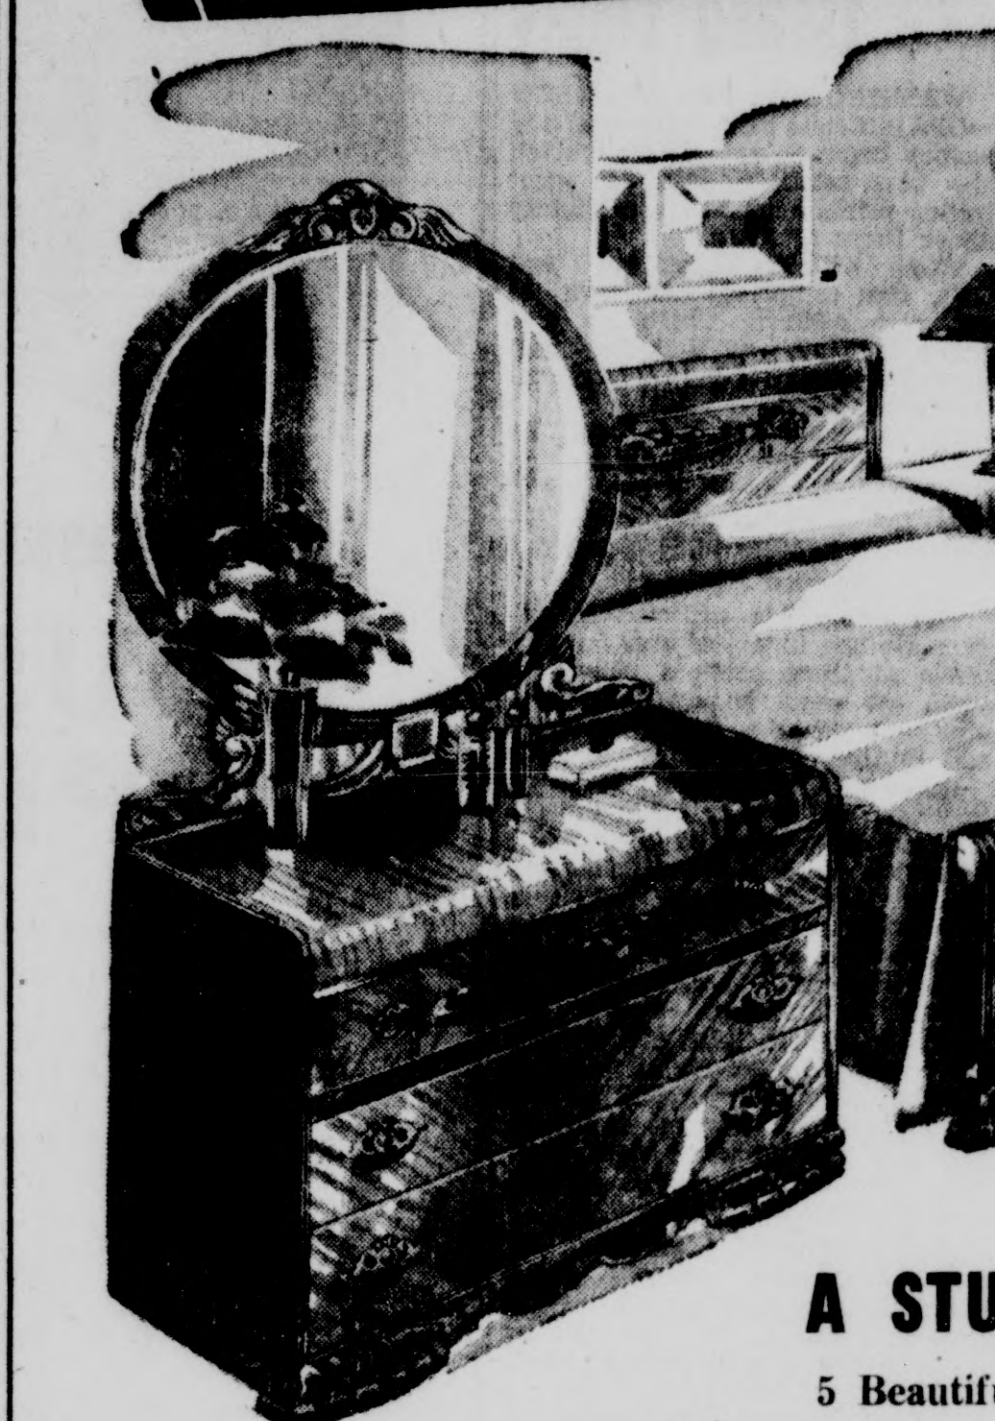

A total of 3,030 white rats, 176 goats and 146 pigs were subjected to the air blast. They were tethered or placed in cages anywhere from the balconies to the engine rooms of 22 ships.

Preliminary tests showed that 10 per cent died of blast effects, 10 per cent from radioactivity, and another 10 per cent were destroyed for pathological research.

J. & L. To Build New Furnace At Cleveland, Ohio

CLEVELAND — (INS)—Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation will replace the steel production lost through razing of the historic Lakeside plant in Cleveland by building a new open hearth furnace at the Riverside works.

The old Lakeside plant of the Otis Steel company was built in 1873 and was the oldest in the Northern Ohio steel-production section. It turned out a steady stream of steel for the nation's use in World War II but then it was abandoned because of its inefficiency compared with more modern plants.

The Arthur G. McKee company of Cleveland will direct construction of the new furnace at the site of the "flats." It will have an annual capacity of 175,000 tons and will be the ninth furnace at the Riverside works.

VETERANS' VOTING WILL BE WATCHED

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—"Will veterans vote as a bloc in Pennsylvania this fall?" is a question that has been considered thoroughly by leaders of both parties. Political chieftains who have been watching primary contests in other states to determine the trend of veterans voting have reported there was no indication that former service men would unite solidly behind one party. The possibility of veterans forming their own political party has been ruled out by most leaders.

Meat Ceiling Prices May Be Issued Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—OPA officials said today that the agency hopes to reveal by nightfall the new retail ceilings on meat rolling prices back to levels slightly above those of June 30.

These officials explained that OPA has completed its work on the new ceilings, which go into effect Monday, but that they still must be approved by the agriculture department.

They pointed out that delay by the agriculture department in "clearing" the new prices could hold up announcement until tomorrow or possibly until Monday.

Average Increases
The prices are expected to reflect average increases over June 30 levels of three cents a pound on pork, six cents a pound on beef and nine cents a pound on lamb and mutton.

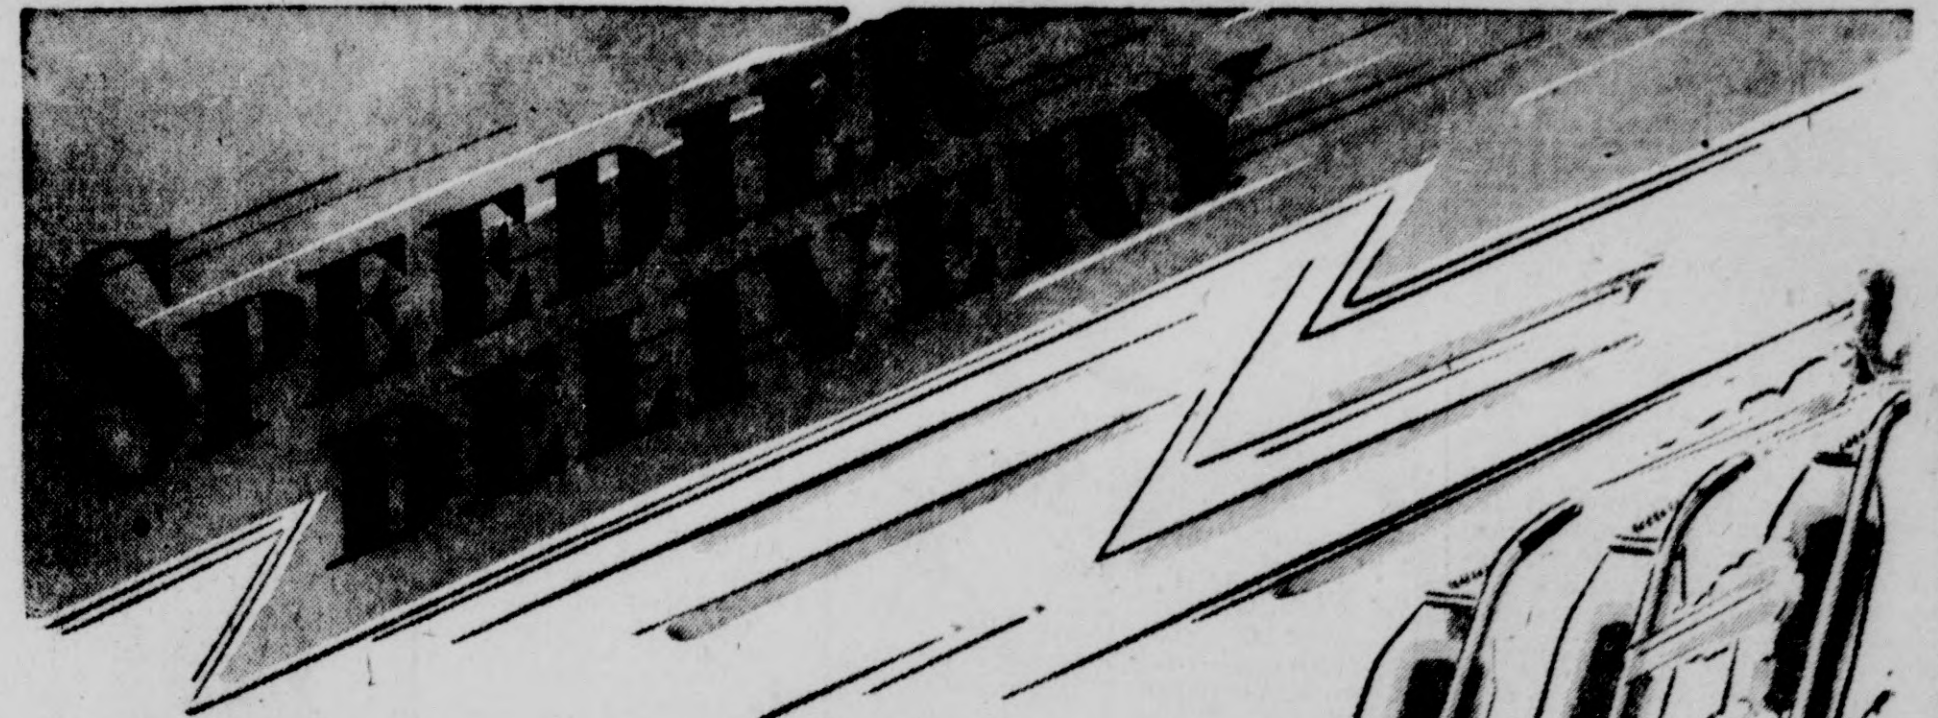

Prices of "luxury" cuts of meat, however, will reflect more of any increase than those of the usually low-priced cuts. OPA officials explained that the agency feels that purchasers of the "luxury" cuts are more able to absorb price increases than those who buy cheaper meats.

OPA enforcement agents are ready to swing into action with the restoration of retail ceilings Monday. The agency promised that it will launch a vigorous campaign to stamp out any meat black market springing up after ceilings become effective.

To Show No Mercy
The nation's 400,000 retail butchers have been put on notice that they will be shown no mercy if they are caught selling black market meat. About 2,500 OPA investigators plan to keep close watch on retail sales. OPA officials said that retailers found to have sold black market meat will be given the choice of revealing the source of their supply or facing criminal action.

Meanwhile, OPA ordered an increase of 21 and one-half cents a gallon in producers' ceiling prices of gum turpentine. The agency set the new ceiling at $1.05 a gallon at the direction of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

OPA said that wholesalers and retailers may recalculate their new ceilings on the basis of the boost granted to producers. Gum turpentine is used primarily as a paint thinner and paint brush cleaner.

Whiskey Rationing Plan To Continue

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Chairman Frederick T. Gelder of the state liquor control board said today there was "no immediate prospect" that Pennsylvania's whiskey rationing plan would end in the near future.

From present indications there is no sign that it will end shortly," Gelder said. "There is no immediate prospect that rationing will be done away with on certain kinds of merchandise such as whiskey bottled in bond."

Pennsylvania's 45th whiskey rationing period will begin next Monday and continue through September 28 with individual allotments pegged at one-fifth of a gallon. Rationing was instituted November 15, 1943.

Gelder said it was anticipated that individual quotas "will be liberalized rather than decreased" in the future.

Erie Conference Plans For New Home For Aged

Architect's Drawings For New Home
For Aged Methodists Presented
During Conference

One of the early items of business at a pre-conference session of the Erie Conference of the Methodist church, now in session at Allegheny College, Meadville, was the display of architectural drawings of a new home for aged Methodists to be constructed on the property of the Ida Cribbs Methodist Home in Conneautville.

Rev. Harold A. McCurdy, former pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, now district superintendent of this area, was in charge of the pre-conference session.

The architect for the new building, from Buffalo, N. Y., was present and explained to the committee that the building would house 117 residents, along with a chapel, infirmary, sitting and project rooms, dining room, kitchen and storage rooms.

As estimated by the architect, the building and its furnishings, along with the remodeling of a superintendent's residence and alterations of the present home on the site into a nurses home and employees quarters, would cost in the neighborhood of a half million dollars.

The sessions will come to a conclusion Sunday, when Methodist pastors of the area will either be reassigned to their churches or assigned to a new charge. It is anticipated that few changes will be made in the New Castle area.

TRUMAN HAS NO VIEWS ON STOCK MARKET DECLINE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—President Truman refrained Thursday from joining the ranks of "experts" attempting to define reasons for the stock market slump.

Mr. Truman said at his news conference that he is, of course, interested in the sharp decline of leading securities.

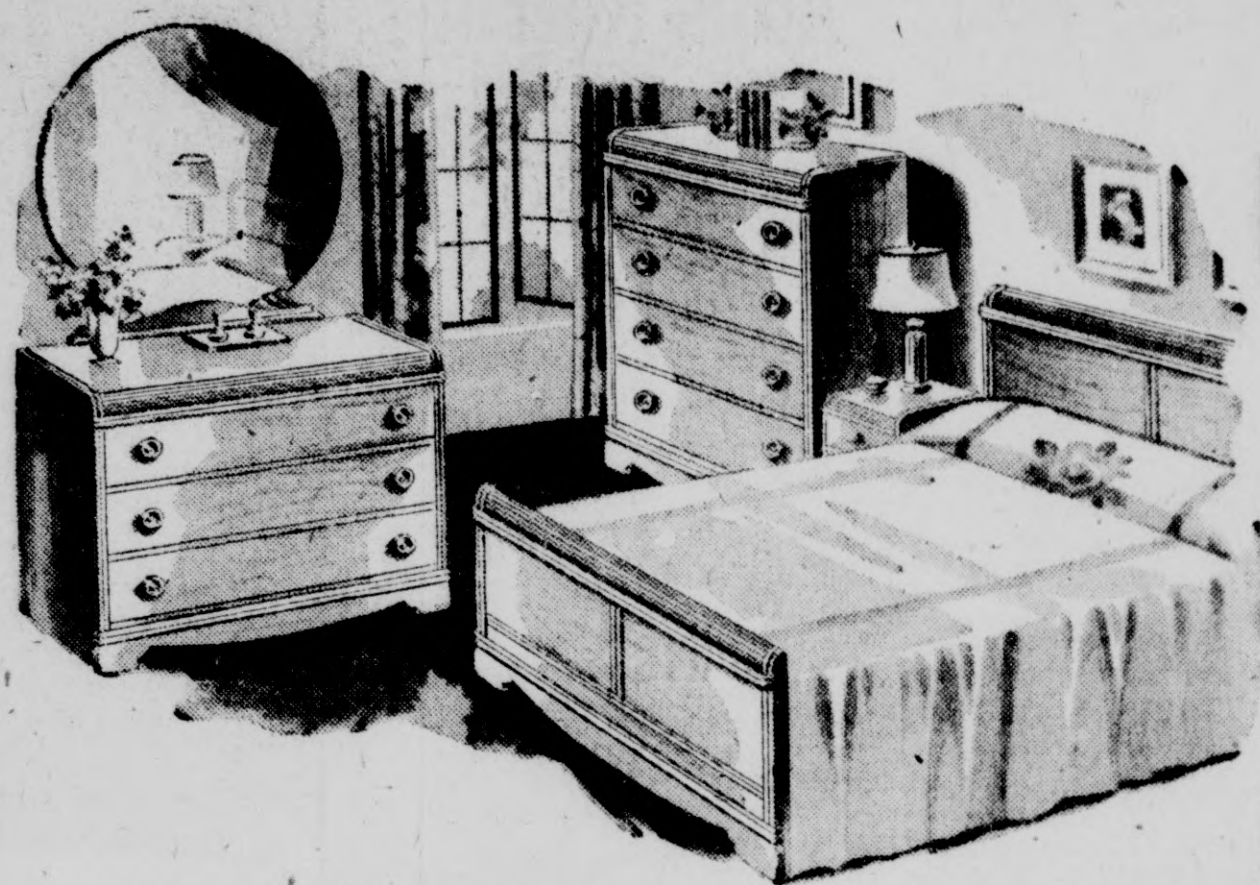

He added with emphasis, however, that he was not well enough informed on the reasons for the slump to make any comment.

Truck Strike In New York Is Extended

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (INS)—Emergency measures to avert public suffering in the face of the unprecedented truck transportation tie-up in New York City were to be taken today by Mayor William O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer called a meeting at police headquarters with committees representing two associations of truck owners and local 807 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT), representing the 25,000 striking truck drivers, to guarantee movement of food and products necessary to life and health. Members of the New York and New Jersey state boards of mediation also will attend the meeting.

Meanwhile the strike which has entered its third day, was extended in New Jersey areas and was destined to affect the whole Atlantic seaboard.

Violence Breaks Out

Violence broke out in New Jersey when a truck ran through a picket line. Frank Smith, 34, a union picket, was shot and painfully wounded. He said the shot came from the truck he had attempted to flag down.

Milk and food deliveries into New York City were sharply curtailed by the walkout. Milk distributors estimated that their deliveries in New York City were off five per cent yesterday and would decline progressively. Milk deliveries were curtailed because of a lack of paper containers at pasteurizing plants.

Perfumes, cosmetics, shaving cream, soap, cigarettes and numerous other "non-essential" items were growing scarce on the shelves of New York stores. Essential medical supplies, however, were being delivered.

Perishable foods were flowing into New York except to the chain stores although union officials sought to persuade the drivers to give the chain stores the service promised them.

Possible early settlement of the strike appeared remote. The truckmen went out when Mayor O'Dwyer's compromise wage proposal granting them 18½ cents an hour pay boost and a 40-hour week was turned down by the truck owners.

SON RECEIVES NEW RANK IN GERMANY

Mrs. Ida Zurasky, 1929 Pennsylvania avenue, has received a message from her son, former T.Cpl. Johnnie Zurasky, who is stationed with the army at Kelesterbach, Germany, that he has been promoted to the full rank of corporal.

He stated in his message, that his health is good and that he expects to receive his discharge in February 1947.

Labor-Industry Parley Not Set, Claims President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (INS)—President Truman said Thursday that he has given no consideration to calling another labor-management conference.

Such a proposal was put forward some time ago by CIO President Philip Murray. The CIO urged that a meeting be called to consider the wage-price situation.

Mr. Truman was asked at his news conference whether he was considering such a parley and he answered with a firm no.

Industry representatives and the American Federation of Labor also have turned thumbs down on another labor-management conference such as met in Washington last November in an unsuccessful effort to chart post-war industrial peace.

First Aid Club Has Corn, Wiener Roast

First aid instructors had their September meeting at the cottage of Miss Rosena McGurk in Rose Point, Wednesday evening, enjoying an outside corn and wiener roast. After supper, the instructors' club members and their guests played games and sang around the campfire.

During a short business meeting, plans for the fall and winter activities were made, and the group heard a report of the first aid station which was maintained at the Orange Crate Derby on Labor day. Harry Cullford, Elmer Gerlach, Richard Morgan, Mrs. Plummer D. Gibson and Miss Marguerite Uhl were on hand during the racing to care for the injured.

The club will meet again at the Red Cross chapter house on the first Wednesday of October. Those on the committee which planned the picnic were Louis Hannon, chairman; Albert Batten, James Lawrence, Mrs. Lorice Rashid, Mrs. Wanda Hughes, Mrs. Mary Peterson, Mrs. P. D. Gibson, Miss Rosena McGurk and Miss Marguerite Uhl.

DAMAGE SUIT IN ACCIDENT CASE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6. (INS)—A $25,000 damage suit was on file in Common Pleas court today against Richard K. Mellon, member of the famed financial family.

The suit was brought by Robert Houlihan, a Pittsburgh truck driver, who charged he was permanently injured as a result of a three-way auto collision on Route 30 near Pittsburgh August 5.

The accident occurred early that morning when Mellon and his brother-in-law, Alan M. Scalfie, were driving to work from their homes near Ligonier.

Maxwell M. Bittering, a Mellon chauffeur and driver of the car, was named co-defendant in the suit, which charges negligence in the driving of the Mellon car.

Fine Program Starts Fall Meetings Of Lawrence County Medical Society Thursday

Dr. William Goodpastor, pathologist at the Jameson Memorial hospital was the principal speaker Thursday evening at the fall meeting of the Lawrence County Medical Society, held at The Castleton.

Dr. Goodpastor spoke on the subject, "A Clinical Pathological Correlation of Renal Changes Due to Burns." Handling the subject in an interesting manner, Dr. Goodpastor presented data which he gathered while engaged in research work at the Mallory Institute of Pathology in Boston. The talk included information on burns affecting the organs of the body, and particularly the study of results of burns upon the kidneys. He also described the symptoms of those suffering kidney damages due to burns. Dr. Goodpastor illustrated his talk with lantern slides.

President, Dr. P. H. Wilson, presided. Two new members are Dr. Thomas R. Ueber, urologist, and Dr. Vincent Prioletti, both discharged from military service. The latter's membership was transferred here from West Virginia.

Attending as guest was Dr. T. R. Wilson, of Ellwood City, a discharged service physician.

Announcement was made that the first meeting of the Women's Medical auxiliary will be on Wednesday, September 18, at which time husbands will be special guests. The event will be at the New Castle Country club, and golfing is the program for the afternoon, followed by a dinner in the evening.

The Pennsylvania State Medical society meeting is scheduled October 7-10 in Philadelphia, and Dr. William Hinkson is delegate, alternating with Dr. H. Sumner and Dr. S. Perry, Jr.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served to the members and guests. Dr. John Barrett, vice president, adjourned the meeting until October 3.

Mercantile Tax Collections Good Says Mayberry

Mercantile tax collections during the past 12 months were good, in fact, very good, according to James Mayberry, who makes the assessments and collects the mercantile tax for the city.

He said today that he made more assessments during the past months than for any year during the past 12.

For instance, he pointed out that when a new business starts he makes an assessment.

An assessment of one-tenth of one per cent on the business done is levied.

If a business does $100,000 worth of business the tax levied is $100, the highest amount possible under state law.

There has been an increase in pool tables and pin-ball machines here, he stated.

For the mercantile year, commencing annually in June, he has assessed five new pool tables and 10 new pin-ball machines.

A charge of $5 is levied for pool tables and $10 for pin-ball machines.

Franklin Enrollment Shows Slight Decline

To date, enrollment at Franklin Junior High school is slightly lower than it was last year, but is expected to come up to the 1945 mark by Monday or Tuesday, according to Gerald Nord, principal of the school.

The total enrollment is 1,150 or 1,160 pupils, with 343 in the seventh grade class. Ninth graders, who have chosen their elective courses are divided into three groups, with the communists more numerous than the academics and the generals forming the smallest group.

First assembly program of the year will be next Thursday, when some of the school's procedure will be explained to new students.

New teachers at Franklin are Miss Marian Hildebrand, Latin; Ralph Englemeier, who teaches printing at both junior high schools, and Mrs. Margery Brimmon, who teaches art two days a week, assisting Mrs. Mary Magee.

Preparing For State Campaign

Possibilities Seen That Na- tional Leaders May Share In State Drive

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—The possibility that National Republican leaders may come into Pennsylvania this fall to speak on behalf of G. O. P. candidates has been advanced by officials at the State Capitol. Although many Republican chieftains predict their candidates will not need "outside help" in their drives, some leaders anticipate that top chieftains such as National Chairman E. Carroll Reese, of Tennessee, or Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts may be invited to the Keystone State this fall. It was reported unofficially that John W. Bricker, former governor of Ohio and unsuccessful G. O. P. candidate for the vice presidency in 1944, may be asked to speak in the state this year. Bricker is a candidate for the U. S. Senate from Ohio.

Although the importation of prominent politicians into Pennsylvania during campaigns is not a new idea, a few Republican leaders have pointed out that the Democrats were attempting to persuade President Truman to speak in the state and that the G. O. P. should follow suit and invite "one or two" of their top men. U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, has announced he would invite President Truman to come into the commonwealth to aid his third-term campaign.

Most leaders do not expect Pennsylvania's Republican high command to extend an invitation to Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, to appear on the commonwealth's political scene this fall. Stassen, flag officer for Adm. William F. Halsey during World War II, has been reported as "too progressive" for Pennsylvania's old guard Republican leadership.

A group of independent Republicans which supported Wendell Willkie for president in 1940 and backed John U. Shroyer for governor during the primary campaign this year has been reported laying the groundwork for a drive to boost Stassen for the G. O. P. presidential nomination in 1948. The group, which called themselves the new guard of Pennsylvania, is headed by William H. and Philip Sharpless, Philadelphia industrialists. The new guard's campaign in the primary drive has been regarded as merely a test to determine what strength they could muster against the regular G. O. P. organization.

Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor's appointment of 11 additional members to the executive committee including several independents came as a surprise to many leaders at the State Capitol. Particularly surprising, many officials said, was the appointment of Lt. Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., of Wyndwood, who has called for more progressive G. O. P. leadership. The appointment of Carl E. Mau, of Marcus Hook, self-styled "G. I." candidate who made an unsuccessful bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the primary election May 21, was not anticipated by many leaders.

Groom Comes Back; All Ends Happily

'Love Will Find Way' Is Again Demonstrated In Pitts- burgh Affair

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6.—(INS)—There's an old, old adage which claims that "love will find a way."

Well—Last Wednesday, petite and pretty Doty Edwards would have told you that those words were all right for the poets, but for the realists—"never."

For Doty, daughter of Navy Commander Frank "Doc" Edwards, of Pittsburgh, was left "waiting" at the church last Tuesday evening by Bill Erickson, a former Marine pilot from Minneapolis.

Then the whole affair seemed like a violent nightmare. The elaborate wedding preparations had been completed... out-of-town guests began to arrive... the Edwards' home was filled with gifts and congratulatory messages. Then came a phone call. It was Bill. He was calling the "whole thing off... just don't believe we want the same things in life..."

Was Heartbroken. Naturally, the 21-year-old Allegheny college beauty was heartbroken, disillusioned, bitter.

But today "love has found a way." For Bill returned to Pittsburgh yesterday and phoned Doty. It was a difficult task but somehow he managed to explain that he made a grave mistake.

"If you'll marry me, Doty," the repentant bridegroom pleaded, "I'll spend the rest of my life making it up to you."

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Erickson were on a honeymoon today, destination unknown. The couple was married last night in a simple ceremony—a ceremony much quieter than the one originally planned.

Although there was no official explanation of Bill's sudden departure and return forthcoming, it was believed he and his immediate family were incensed over the publicity given the romance and wedding.

For Bill met Doty 18 months ago when he piloted her father home for a week-end visit.

Miner Is Held On Murder Charge

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Pete Prenni, 26, a strip miner, was in Indiana county jail today under a charge of murder in the club slaying of Mary Vranko, 75.

Prenni admitted slaying the woman, police said, but claimed that he did not remember what happened after he knocked on her door.

A 16-year-old youth who had been with Prenni allegedly told police that Prenni had gone to the Vranko home with the intention of assaulting the woman, police said.

DIES AFTER FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Washington police reported today that Clyde E. Salisbury, 28, of Washington died in a hospital of a fractured skull suffered in a Labor Day fight.

Ray Murner, 35, also of Washington, was arrested by police and held pending a coroner's inquest. Murner, according to police, admitted participating in the brawl.

GOVERNOR MARTIN MAY CARRY OUT OLD PRECEDENT

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—If Gov. Edward Martin should be elected to the U. S. senate this fall he will be the first governor in nearly a century to step from the chief executive's office to the upper chamber.

Records at the state capitol show that William Bigley of Clearfield county, who served as governor from 1852 to 1855, served in the senate from 1855 to 1861.

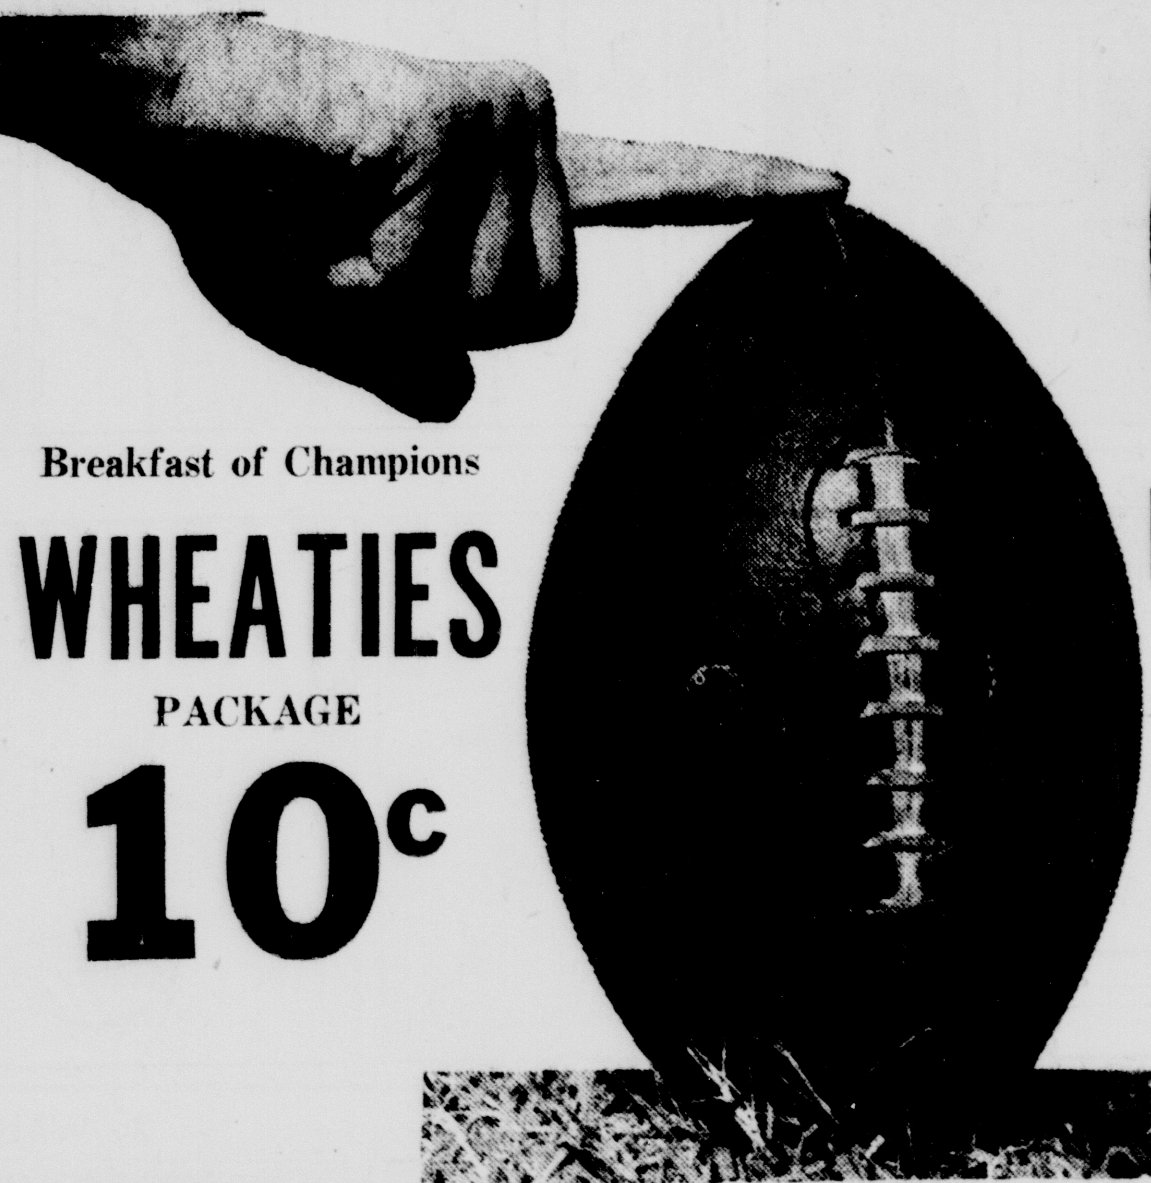

Mayor Lawrence's Daughter To Marry

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Mayor David L. Lawrence has been so busy these days conferring with labor and management in an attempt to halt a possible Pittsburgh power strike that he has been unable to hold an all-important conference with his future son-in-law.

The mayor's oldest daughter, Mary Alice, announced yesterday the engagement to James J. Gannon, of Pittsburgh and said the wedding will take place on Thanksgiving.

"Dad knows about it," she explained, "but he hasn't had a chance to talk with Jim yet."

The mayor's other daughter, Anna Mae, was married to Thomas K. Donahoe, Jr., on June 11.

Suspend License Of American Ship Captain For Crash

Negligence Charged Against S.S. 'American Farmer' Skipper
In July 31 Wreck

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(INS)—The mariners license of Capt. Arthur P. Cronin, 51, master of the S. S. American Farmer, which was in a collision with the S. S. William J. Riddle July 31 off the coast of England, was suspended for 90 days Thursday by a coast guard court.

Capt. Cronin was adjudged guilty of negligence, particularly for failing to make certain that the American Farmer was in unseaworthy condition before abandoning her.

After the ship was abandoned another crew brought her to England under her own power.

Robert S. Erskine, attorney for Capt. Cronin, said he would appeal the decision of the coast guard court, which was headed by Commander William L. Maloney. The appeal will be made to Rear Admiral Ed. H. Smith, commander of the third coast guard district.

Last Monday Tulon Brown, third mate of the American Farmer, also was set down for 90 days on a charge of failing to indicate by siren alterations in the course of the ship.

Capt. Cronin told newsmen that the verdict was "what I expected." Prior to the sentencing he also told newsmen that he planned to quit the sea because "I am tired and fed up." The captain's home is at West New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Six For Fraud Schemes

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Six former war contractors were indicted by the federal grand jury today on charges of defrauding the government of $152,750 through schemes ranging from payroll padding to "kickbacks."

The indictments, handed to Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick, brought to 40 the number of persons indicted in this district since January 1 in connection with war contracts.

Those indicted were Joseph J. Salvatore and his son, John J., both of 6396 Drexel road; Harry J. Kunzig, 3038 Panshawe street; Louis A. Aleli, of Llanerch, and Benjamin V. McCarthy of Fort Washington.

Judge Kirkpatrick issued bench warrants for the arrest of the defendants and set bail of $2,500 for each.

The Salvatores were accused of conspiring to defraud the War Shipping Administration of $102,000 on the sale of eleven million feet of lumber from their yards to the Isthmian Steamship Co., operated by the WSA during the war.

Kunzig, Aleli and McCarthy were charged with lesser frauds in other unrelated war contracts.

Man Indicted In Hold-Up Slaying Of Ex-Serviceman

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Allan W. Black, 28, of Norristown, was indicted Thursday for the hold-up slaying of a Bucks county ex-G.I. last July.

The Montgomery county September grand jury returned true bills against Black charging him with murder, burglary, and violation of the firearms act.

Black is accused of shooting Joseph Wicen, 32, with a .22 calibre revolver after he held him up at a signal light near Collegeville, Pa.

The Montgomery county district attorney's office said that after the holdup Black forced Wicen to drive him to a point near Easton where the slaying occurred.

Then, the prosecution charges, Black piled Wicen's body into the rear of the car and drove him to a point where he buried him in a crude grave.

Black showed little emotion today when the true bills were returned against him. Detectives said he was more perturbed that his wife did not appear at the hearing.

Wicen was robbed of $55 which Black allegedly said he "spent on girls."

Polio Epidemic Slowly Declining

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—The public health service reported today that the current polio epidemic saw its second week of decline during the week ending Aug. 31.

The number of new cases of infantile paralysis for the nation was 1,781 for the week ended Aug. 31, compared with 1,806 the previous week and 1,814 the week ending Aug. 17, which was the peak. A public health spokesman said:

"We don't know what is going to happen in the next few weeks but it looks like the worst is over."

Total number of reported cases of poliomyelitis to date this year is 12,431 compared with 6,156 for the same period last year. The highest polio outbreak occurred in 1917 when the crippling disease claimed 27,363.

WESTINGHOUSE TALE RECALLED

GROVE CITY — (INS) — Mrs. Minnie Maxwell Palmer, who owned a rolling pin made by George Westinghouse, died in her home in Grove City.

On Christmas day, 1869, Mrs. Palmer sent a brother to a machine shop in Park Way, Pittsburgh, to have the rolling pin repaired.

Westinghouse was in the shop working on a new invention he called the "air brake." He listened to the story and then turned out a new rolling pin on a lathe.

Prisoners Get Time Credit For Good Behavior

BOSTON—(INS)—The Massachusetts penal system is all geared for the biggest mass exodus of inmates from correctional institutions and parole supervision in its history.

The state legislature passed two laws. Under the retroactive provisions, 117 inmates of correctional institutions will be released and 422 parolees will be freed of supervision early this fall.

According to penal officials, release of the prisoners will be on a stagger system to prevent "a deteriorating effect on the community."

The so-called "parole time" and "good behavior" clauses which will apply to the affected prisoners, were enacted as an aftermath of the recent "sit-down" strike and demonstration by inmates at the Charlestown state prison in protest against what they called the harsh parole system.

Under the new laws, about one out of every 25 persons now in penal institutions will be released. The 422 parolees affected represent about 20 per cent of the total of 2,100 persons now free on parole. The good-behavior statute makes absolute, instead of conditional, the granting of time credit for good conduct behind prison walls.

Former New Castle Pastor Reassigned

Rev. Paul C. Millard, former pastor of the First Free Methodist church, Arlington avenue, has been assigned to the Free Methodist church, at Titusville, Pa., according to word reaching The News. He will begin his ministry there on September 15.

Rev. Millard enjoyed a successful ministry here of five years, leaving this city in September of 1943 for his Siproon charge. His successor at Titusville, Rev. Lorena E. Movnard, has been assigned to Rev. Millard's former New Castle church on Arlington avenue.

L. C. U. S. MEETING SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Explain Benefits Due Survivors Of Veterans

Immediate beneficiaries of the recent veterans' amendment to the Social Security Act are the survivors of World War II veterans who died as the result of causes not connected with their military service and before the date on which the amendment became law, Edward J. Sinder, manager of the New Castle office of the Social Security Administration said today.

Mr. Sinder explained that the new section of the act provides for the payment of monthly benefits to qualified survivors of veterans who die within three years of their discharge under conditions other than dishonorable and whose dependents are not qualified to receive compensation or pensions from the Veterans Administration. National Service Life Insurance is not included in compensation or pensions.

In the case of such veterans who died before the enactment of the new amendment, the measure provides for monthly benefits retroactive to the date of the veteran's death if the survivors file their benefit claims with the nearest office of the Social Security Administration before midnight, February 10, 1947. Of course, monthly benefits other than retroactive are payable on claims filed at any time by qualified persons.

Greater Benefits

In cases where survivors of veterans who qualify under the new amendment already have filed claim for monthly benefits earned by the veterans under the old-age and survivors insurance program of the Social Security Administration, it is possible that the provisions of the new measure will provide greater benefits than those earned by the veteran. These survivors are included in the immediate potential beneficiaries, Mr. Sinder said, and should apply to the field office of the Social Security Administration.

The same applies, Mr. Sinder said, to survivors who have filed claim for lump-sum benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program on a qualified veteran's account. The new amendment may make them eligible for monthly benefit payments, or it may increase the amount of the lump-sum benefit. In the latter case, they will receive the difference between the lump sum they received and the larger amount they are eligible for under the new amendment, if they apply at the office of the Social Security Administration.

"As in the case of all other persons qualified for social security benefits, families of deceased veterans to whom this new section of the law has immediate application should come to our office to file their benefit claims as soon as possible," Mr. Sinder said.

"There is, of course, no action to be taken under the new amendment by veterans or dependents of living veterans, since the amendment affects only survivors of veterans who have met the qualifications of the new measure, including ineligibility for Veterans Administration payments, and who have died."

Potential Beneficiaries

Survivors of veterans who meet these qualifications and are thus potential beneficiaries of the old-age and survivors insurance program are the same as in the case of any fully insured worker under the old-age survivors insurance program, Mr. Sinder said. He listed them as:

- Widow, aged 65 or over. She will receive monthly benefits for life, or until she remarries.
- Young, dependent children. They will receive benefits until they are 18 or until they marry.
- Widows of any age with young dependent children of the insured veteran in their care. They will receive monthly benefits until they remarry or until the youngest child reaches 18. If the widow does not remarry, she may file again for benefits at age 65.
- Aged, dependent parents of the insured veteran who leaves no widow or child under 18. After January 1, 1947, such parents may receive benefits even though the wage earner is survived by a widow or child under 18 if the widow or child can never become eligible for benefits. The parent's benefits continue for life or until the parent remarries.

In the absence of any person immediately eligible for monthly benefit payments, a lump-sum payment may be made to certain specified relatives or to persons who pay burial expenses.

The New Castle office of the Social Security Administration is located at 306 Neshamock avenue.

VIOLATES PAROLE; LANDS BACK IN JAIL

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Walter (Doc) Crawford, 49, a Connelville chiropractor, was back in jail today on a charge of allegedly violating his parole.

Crawford, according to police, originally was convicted of supplying pills to stimulate the heart action of prospective draft dodgers. He spent two of his three year sentence in the workhouse before receiving a parole, police reported.

Officials claimed he allegedly was practicing chiropractic once again without a license and said he failed to report at the times set by his parole.

CANONSBURG TO HONOR CURRENT BOBBY SOX IDOL

CANONSBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—A former barber will be honored by Canonsburg citizens on Sept. 14—all to the delight of those merry and unpredictable madcaps—the bobby-soxers.

For many years ago, the barber turned in his shears for a sheet of music and became, of all things, a swoon-crooner. His name? Perry Como.

And for those of you in the house who never heard of the guy, just ask the nearest bobby-soxer in your neighborhood.

At any rate, Canonsburg residents have planned a gala affair for the hometown boy who's dulcet melodies have a lot of people swooning. They're even contemplating naming a street after Perry.

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

By JULIAN HARTT

(Substituting While John Todd Is On Vacation)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6. (INS)—Halt, Madam! Don't beat that youngster if he doesn't want to become a piano prodigy!

Jose Iturbi, who makes more money in an evening with 88 keys than a jewel thief in an apartment house, hands out that sage advice today after years of world-wide concert tours—during which his tortured cardrums have been subjected to the efforts of at least one "prodigy" per city.

With two grandchildren who hated their piano lessons just as much as any other youngsters in the block, Jose knows what he's talking about. Said Jose to your reporter:

"If the music isn't in here"—he rolls up his talented fingers and boffs himself on the chest—"You can't put it in."

"All kids should have some music in their schooling, but after that, it's up to them."

Started On Wrong Foot

In the case of his own grandchildren, Jose admits he started off on the wrong foot. He hired a good instructor, and tried to keep them to regular hours at their practice. They didn't want any part of it.

"Finally, I said to the children: 'Goodbye, instructor. We all forgot about it. I didn't mention it.'"

Meanwhile, of course, Jose kept up his own nimble talent by regular, daily practice, even though he was right on top of the heap when it comes to the grand concert pianists.

The youngster may have been out in back splashing around in the blue-tiled swimming pool, squishing water out of their fists at floating eucalyptus leaves, but they couldn't help hearing the best of music tinkling away inside the house.

"Okay," I said to the instructor: "Goodbye, instructor. We all forgot about it. I didn't mention it."

"Now, says Jose, winking, "They're after me all the time to teach them to play. And I will—but only after I keep them dangling awhile with maybe tonight we'll start," or tomorrow."

"Nothing is worth while that comes too easily."

Bolsters Family Budget

This chunky little fellow with the close-cropped, graying hair, who started bolstering the family budget by beating the ivories in a local silent movie house, back in Spain before he was out of knee pants, has a lot of sympathy for young piano rebels, too.

"Believe me," he says "there are times when I hate that piano; when I could tear it up. But, if you've got that something inside, you always come back."

Jose felt like that when he went to a hospital awhile back for an operation. But, he adds:

"After 12 days they brought me home on a stretcher. When we went past the piano I stopped them and had them carry me over to it. I reached up and played a little. Then, for the first time in all that time I could really smile and say, 'All right, now put me to bed.'"

That, vows this bright-eyed, sharp-witted concert artist and part time movie star out at M-G-M, is the best way to determine whether little Willie should keep hammering away at the upright—and he figures maybe a lot of neighbors will appreciate it, too.

HOUSING SHORTAGE

DENVER — (INS) — Robert D. Hubbard was assigned to Denver as federal housing agent . . . After a thorough study of the situation, Hubbard said, "the housing situation in Denver is one of the worst in the nation and will probably continue to be for at least two years." Hubbard has good reason for his statement. The housing agent has been unable to find his family a house—or even an apartment—in Denver.

New Castle And Erie East Open Grid Season Tonight

Toughest Inaugural In Years Faced By Local Grid Machine

New Castle High With Four Regulars Back Face Strong Erie Eleven; First Meeting Of Two Schools On Grid-iron Since 1936; Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Starting 25th Year As Head Mentor; Capacity Crowd Will See 8:15 Kickoff

Faced with the prospect of battling the toughest opening day opponent in local New Castle high football history, a "determined but untired" "Red Hurricane" grid machine, calmly awaits the 8:15 o'clock kickoff tonight at the stadium with the powerful Erie East high eleven nursing a wound incurred by a 20 to 0 setback in the last meeting of the two schools back in 1936.

Phil Bridenbaugh starting his 25th year as head grid mentor here finds the situation none too pleasing. Only four regulars are back from the fine 1945 team that won eight and lost but two games. "Bridy" is hoping for a silver lining to the anniversary opening.

The gates will be thrown open at 7 o'clock and by game time the stands will be filled to capacity, it is indicated. The fans are showing more interest this year than ever before judging from the extremely heavy advance sale of season tickets. All reserved seat tickets have been sold in the concrete stands, it was announced by Ticket Manager J. H. Earl McKenzie.

Starting at 7 o'clock the windows on Cunningham avenue and the main gate on DuShane street will start selling tickets for the bleachers on the west side of the field and the southern bleachers. The children's gate will be on Division street as usual, with a ticket booth available.

"Red Hurricane" Ready
After two weeks of practice the "Red Hurricane" team is ready for the grueling battle that is sure to result when the East High squad, coached by the veteran Jim Hyde, trot out on the beautiful green turf of the stadium. In scheduling Erie East with a veteran team from last year, the high officials certainly scored a tenstrike as far as attractions go, but Erie may prove just a little too rugged for the inexperienced New Castle team, it is thought.

East finished second in the Erie conference last year with a fairly green team, it has been learned, and Hyde has been fortunate in having all of his 1945 lettermen return for another season.

Not so with Phil Bridenbaugh who will have a team of fighters on the field with four veterans from last year to steady the inexperienced material up from the reserve squad last year and from the two junior highs.

If determination means anything in football, New Castle will have a good team. The coaches have done their level best to mould a winner, the answer comes tonight. The 1946 squad has the proper spirit, they want to win, they want to be tops, whether or not they are, remains to be seen as they wade through the hardest New Castle high card in many years.

Clavelli At Quarter
Directing the New Castle team on the field at the start of the game will be a newcomer "Polack" Clavelli a reserve last year with but little varsity experience. At the halves will be Gene Gribble who was sidelined by an injured leg most of last year, and Ira Brown, colored speedster, who saw a little action. At fullback will be Lou Gilmore another colored speed merchant who was used at quarterback and half back last year.

On the line at the kickoff will be Phil Richards at right end, Zeigler at left end, with big Al Tate, and John DiCola at the tackles, two holdovers from last year. Ed Allison has been assigned to the snapper-back slot, with "Moe" Dean and Jasper Williams, the latter a colored boy from Franklin high's 1945 squad.

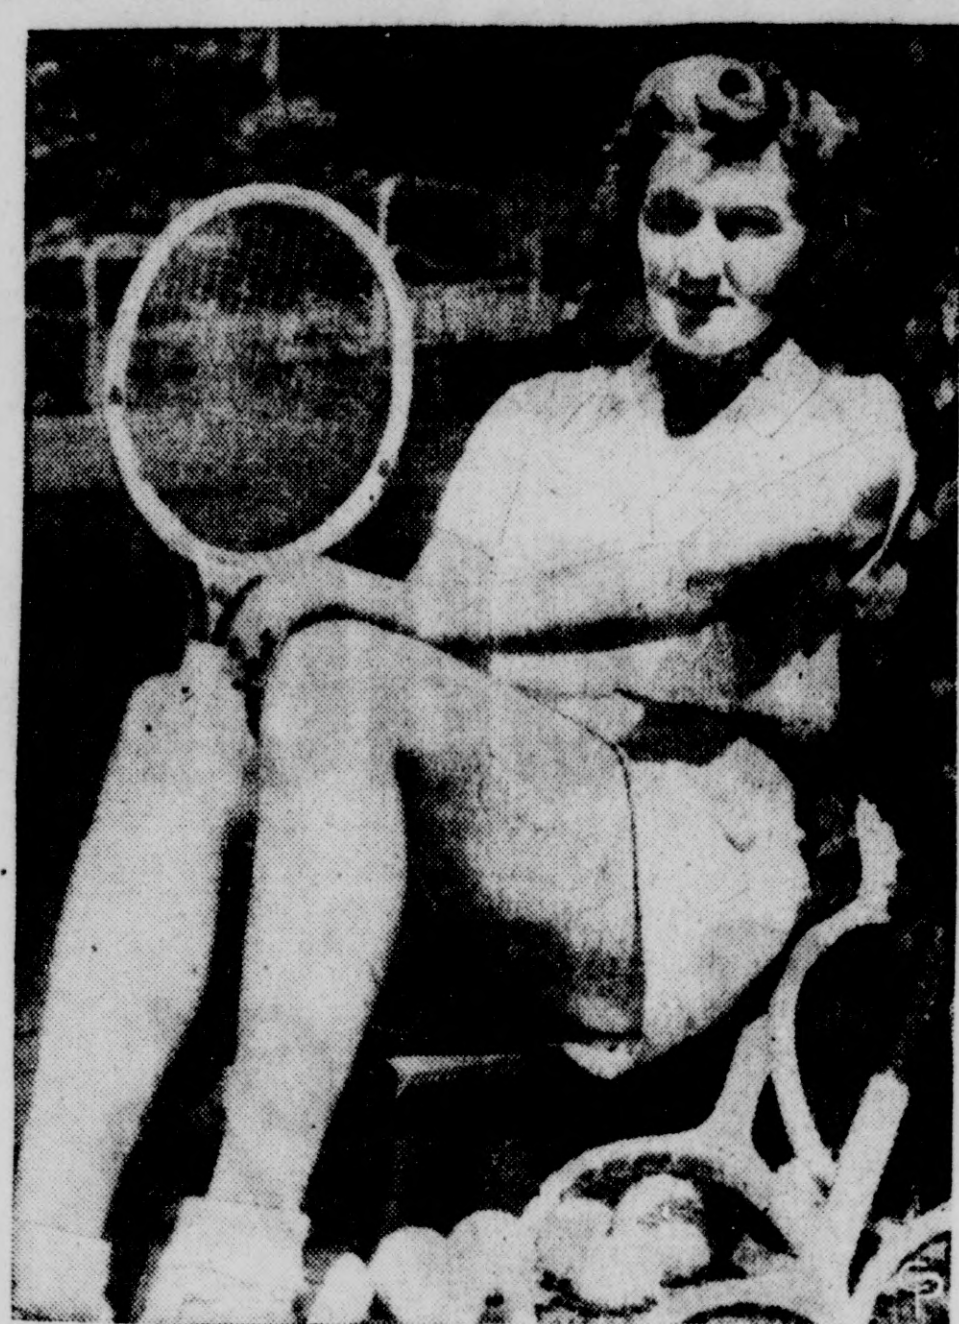

New Castle Holds Edge
In the five-game series to date with Erie East dating back to the first meeting in 1925, the New Castle team holds the edge having won four and lost one. East won in 1931, 7 to 6. New Castle's victories were by scores of 41 to 0, 46 to 0, and 20 to 0.

It was announced by Faculty Manager Robert Mills that the new electric scoreboard and "grid eye" ordered sometime ago have not arrived for the opening game. "The fans will be kept in contact with the game details by the use of the public address system," Mills said until the new scoreboard can get here.

Temporary Bleacher Seats For Stadium

High Officials Are Installing 350 Bleacher Seats To Take Care Of Overflow

In order to take care of an overflow crowd expected to witness the New Castle and Erie East football opener tonight at the stadium, the New Castle High officials have installed a set of 350 bleacher seats in front of the concrete stands near the 50 yard line.

The ticket window for the temporary seats will open at 7 o'clock at the main gate and the tickets will sell for 70 cents per copy. The first 350 people in line will get the field seats, it was announced by Ticket Manager J. H. Earl McKenzie.

McKenzie also announced that tickets for the Butler game will go on sale next Tuesday at the Sporting Goods store at 9 o'clock and that there will absolutely not be any telephone calls accepted.

Bessemer Ready For George Junior Game

First Night Game In Bessemer High's History Slated For Saturday

Kickoff At 8:15 O'clock; Coaches Ciccone And Glaspey Have Untried Squad

Bessemer high's football team have given themselves for combat in their first night game at home. George Junior Republic of Grove City will be the Cement City boys' first opponent this year. The game will start at 8:15 p. m. on Saturday. Coach William Ciccone's team is a little undecided as yet. Joe Tonya and George Medich who earned letters in basketball last year, have turned-out for football practice this year. This is their first experience in the grid game and they are competing with sophomores Ray Gennaro and James Amedure; and freshman August Anderson for the end positions. None of these boys have had previous varsity experience.

Fairly Good Lineman
Down in tackle positions, Coaches Ciccone and Glaspey have Dave Phillips, a hold-over, on one side of the line, with Len Lombardo, Dick Brown and Dan Marangoni fighting to secure the opening on the other side. Candidates for the guard spots are the three experienced men from last year's squad: Don Baird, Ted Cicceri and Dick Perroti, who are most promising and Don Retort and Jack Davidson rushing them plenty.

With two returning lettermen for center, Bessemer won't have to worry about that part of the line. Red Retort and Jim Martin will alternate there. Shorty Madrid has the quarterback job in the bag, although Bill Percie is being used some.

Pezzullo At Full
At half, the coaches are trying to decide between Gildo Bianchi, Bill Percie, Harry Glass, John Pezzullo and Phillip Tiratto. J. Pezzullo is a brother of Henry Pezzullo who has the starting fullback post. John is a recently discharge army G. I. who has returned to school after serving in the E. T. O. He is expected to see a lot of action for Bessemer. He weighs 170 pounds and will be the heaviest man in the back field. Tiratto, Percie and Bianchi are nursing leg injuries at the present time. Guard, Don Baird has some and may see action there.

With the first night football game to be played on Bessemer high school's athletic field in the history of the school, the floodlights will be turned on at about 9 p. m. Friday evening. At that time the lights will be focused and all the necessary adjustments will be made.

Erect New Seats
Work on the fence which will enclose the field is proceeding on schedule and contractor Paul Brown of Mars who is doing the work, promises that it will be in place for Saturday night. Bleachers with a capacity of 440 persons have been erected on the south side of the field. Sixty of these seats will be occupied by band director, Joseph Martin's musicians.

Four additional sections with a capacity of about 220 seats will not arrive in time for the first game, principal, Chandler B. McMillan announced today. Mr. McMillan also stated that tickets on sale at the gate Saturday night will be fifty cents for adult and twenty five cents for student general admission. Bleacher seats will be an additional twenty five cents.

New Faces On Fistic Docket

King, Milnes, Booker, Hoover, Williams, Gambie, Laura Among 'New Boys' To Box

There will be some new faces in The Arena when an eight-bout amateur boxing show gets under way Monday night, the bouts being composed of boys from Akron, Youngstown, Rochester and this city. The main bout will be fought by Lou King of Rochester and Clarence Blair, colored light-heavyweights. It will be King's first bout here.

Pete Misto, veteran Youngstown amateur, will battle Russ Milnes, Rochester. It will be Milnes' first visit here and in the third from last bout Les Leasure, this city, who was aggressive in his last appearance in The Arena will take on 160 pound Jim Gillespie of Akron. Harry Booker, Akron and Chet Hoover, Youngstown, will clash at 120.

Other bouts on the docket arranged by Tommy Leach are as follows: Guy Elisco, this city vs. Ed. Benish, Youngstown, at 190; Billy Rose, Rochester vs. Kelly Williams, Akron, at 135; Joe Gambie, Rochester vs. Skip Laura, Akron at 132 and Don Petri, Beaver Falls vs. Billy Myers, Youngstown at 130.

City All-Stars To Meet Ellwood

Newly organized all-star baseball team of this city under the management of Mike Annarella, will journey to Ellwood City Sunday to meet an all-star aggregation of that town, composed of County league players.

The game has been planned as a benefit game to help defray the expenses of an Ellwood player who fractured his left leg in a game recently.

The Ellwood team will be made up of the best players from the Elys, the V. P. W. and the Castletown clubs.

For games with the New Castle team call Mike Annarella, phone 710-W between 5:30 and 9 p. m.

Penn State's Leo Houck is looking forward to his 25th year as a college boxing coach in 1947.

Forest-Sons Battle Monday

Beautiful Gerson Trophy Will Go To Champions In Softball Series

Interest is rather keen in the coming Forest A. C. and Sons of Italy city softball championship series that will start Monday at 5:45 o'clock at Marshall field. It will be the best-out-of-three-game series.

There is intense rivalry between the two teams, the Forest A. C. won the second half, the Sons of Italy the first half. In the season meetings of the two teams the Forest beat the Sons of Italy on but two occasions, the Sons taking four games.

Jack Gerson, local well known jeweler, is donating a beautiful trophy cup to the champions, it was announced today by Anthony Conn, vice president of the City-Industrial Softball league.

Keystone A.C. Club Organized

Some 150 members were present at the first meeting recently of the newly formed Keystone A. C., including many veterans of the late war.

An election was held and Carl Peretti was named president of the organization with Patsy Shelton vice president. Pete Carvella is the athletic director; Paul Cuba, treasurer; Perry Ross, secretary, and Joe Hoyle, committee head.

The new club will sponsor a football, basketball and baseball team. Club rooms are located on South Beaver street.

Need Help To Stock Pheasants

Members of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association or other sportsmen who are willing to aid hunting here should meet Del Perrier, LCSA secretary, at his residence, 735 County Line street, at 2 p. m. Saturday to help stock pheasants.

BAPTISTS TAKE FORFEIT

First Baptist softball team closed their league play last night by taking a forfeit game from the Second P. at the Rose avenue field. This contest was supposed to have been a postponed game from August 22. The Baptists finished a second half with six wins and no losses.

Coach Bob Higgins thinks his star 43 guard, Johnny Jaffurs, of Williamsburg, has a good chance to stay in the Washington Redskins of the National Pro league. "He'd help them on the defense," the Lion grid coach said.

Only two boys on the 1946 squad never before played football at Penn State.

KING FOOTBALL will make an appearance at 8:15 tonight at Taggart stadium. Army will have new blood on the West Point eleven in the persons of Harold Tanel, Cleveland, Joe Steffy, Chattanooga, and Goble Bryant, Dallas. Paul Peleick posted a 249 duckpin score at Sharon. Johnny Villaneau, protégé of Fritz Zivic, scored another kayo at Youngstown. For a youngster, he has class and sock.

New York State Boxing commission has shorted Marty Servo of the welterweight title because he has twice failed to go through with a fight with Sugar Robinson. Servo claimed a nose injury caused him to default a second time. Frankie Moran, southpaw welterweight of this city, in his amateur days one of the strongest purchasers hereabouts, is training under the tutelage of Russ Baxter and may be seen in action in some pro bouts in this section. Joe Louis and Tami Mauriella box in New York, September 18. On September 27, Middleweight King Tony Zale boxes Rocky Graziano in Gotham.

Geneva eleven is so short of football shoes a public appeal to get them has been made. Joe Lonnott, Mike Thellman and Homer Benden, members of a crew of seven Beaver Falls players who tried out with the Pirates, have been invited to return September 21 to Forbes field for another try-out. Sometime ago Here & There inquired if anyone recalled the S. O. I. S. playing the Carlisle Indians' third team. Up stepped Lou Fell today. He said, yes, and both Fell and Here & There remembered going to school together.

Carlton Sinsler, former national indoor net champ, won the Montrose, Pa. Country club's doubles championship, exactly 46 years after he won the club's singles and doubles championship.

While strolling around the Beckett-Berskovich fight ringside at Youngstown, Here & There had chats with Tom Stanley, manager of Mickie Doyle; Joe Nitro, manager of Cliff Beckett, promoter Bill Walsh who may migrate to some other spot; Mickie Forkins, former welterweight and middleweight; Fritz Zivic, ex-welterweight champion; Attorney Robert Huxley, Youngstown; Youngstown detectives Bowser and Lally who sat with Detectives Moore and McMullen and Lieutenant Jones; Charles Landolt, Vincitor sports staff; Jimmie Dunn, Cleveland; Johnny Papke, Cleveland (who seconded boxers in the recreation show here); Wayne McAvay, announcer, Referee Al Zill and Johnny Corbett, John Loicano, Ellwood's hustling amateur boxing promoter and Russ Baxter, local boxer, were at the show.

Tigers Slam Bobby Feller

Send Rapid Robert To Showers, Win 10-0, Red Sox
Win Another

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The past month of the waning American league season has proven a bitter disappointment to gallant Bob Feller, Cleveland's great fireball pitcher.

In the fourth inning yesterday the Tigers nipped Feller for eight runs, climaxed by Hank Greenberg's 30th homer. Previously this year, the most runs scored off Bob in a single inning was five by the Yankees.

Dick Wakefield greeted Bob Lemon, Feller's successor, with another homer and the Tigers went on to win 10 to 0 behind Fred Hutchinson's five-hit pitching.

Red Sox Win
The Tigers remained two games back of the second-place Yankees, who downed the Athletics 6 to 2. The pace-setting Boston Red Sox blanked Washington 1 to 0 behind Jim Bagby, and now any combination of four Boston victories or four New York defeats will clinch the American league pennant for the Sox.

A single by Cass Michaels in the 11th gave the Chicago White Sox a 4 to 3 decision over the St. Louis Browns.

Dodgers-Cards Win
The National league pennant race remained unchanged as both St. Louis and Brooklyn won. In the afternoon, little Vic Lombardi of the Dodgers held the Boston Braves to three hits and won a 1 to 0 duel from Johnny Sain, who might well be the best pitcher in the circuit. A wild pitch cost Sain the verdict.

The Cardinals romped to a 10 to 1 landslide over the Chicago Cubs under the arc lights, behind Harry Brecheen's pitching.

Jack Graham's second homer of the afternoon, coming in the ninth with two men on base, gave the New York Giants a 6 to 5 decision over the Phillies. Pittsburgh nipped Johnny Vander Meer for two runs in the ninth to nose out Cincinnati, 2 to 1.

U. S. Smugness Detering Role In World Affairs

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—(INS)—American smugness was seen today as a deterrent to the nation's international relations.

Prof. Gardner Murphy, of the City College of New York Psychology Department, told the 54th annual meeting of the American Psychological Association, that "we should make sure that those who represent us in international affairs are free from nationalistic egotism."

"Without the oil of understanding," Murphy said, "the engine of international relations will burn itself out."

The psychologist advised Americans not to be "too boastful" that this is the one great nation in the world.

"The reason we are so often misunderstood by the Russians and by the Chinese when we preach democracy is that so often we don't practice what we preach."

"Secretary of State Byrnes speaks for democracy in America, but they hear instead the statements of such persons as Senator Bilbo."

The out-of-town golfers were loud in their praise of the New Castle Country club course and the tough layout bothered them quite a little.

Four Boxing Exhibitions
William Watkins, Sr., was chairman of the boxing show held as the closing feature on the day's activities. Tommy Leach, local fight promoter, had eight boxers present and they staged a swell swinging show all the way.

The boys mixed it quite freely and had the large crowd in an uproar as they pummeled each other around the ring. The boxers who took part were Al Leasure vs. Johnny Tervo, Emil Canale vs. Chuck DeVito, Guy Elisco vs. Les Leasure and Frankie Moran vs. Jack Biddle. Canale and DeVito are from the Christopher Columbus club in Mahoningtown, with the other boys from the Jefferson A. C.

Charley James of New Castle refereed the first three bouts, Bud Chill, formerly of New Castle now of Youngstown, handled the last bout. Doing the judging were Phil Greer and Dan Treloar. Keeping time was Humbert Pazzone, and announcing the exhibitions was Charles "Bugs" Walther. The crowd applauded the boxers vociferously.

'Polite Bandit' Object Of Hunt

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Police searched today for the "polite" bandit who robbed Peter C. Rietschy, Lancaster grocer, of $7500 in cash and an undetermined amount in checks.

Rietschy told police that as he was walking home last night he passed a man bent on a sidewalk as if tying his shoe. "How are you?" the man said to Rietschy, snatched the grocer's money bag and fled.

Bradley Urges Honest Veterans Training Program

General Raps Chiselers Who Are Doing All They Can To Profit In Program

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley called Thursday for an honest veterans' training program.

The administrator of veterans' affairs and wartime commander of the First Army, declared at the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars that chiselers must be eliminated.

Gen. Bradley said: "The best incentive that can be given industry in the establishment of these courses for veterans in need of training is to assure them an airtight program, freed from the danger of trouble."

"If we can clean out the chiselers and make the program safe for the honest employer, I have no fear that we shall find ourselves short of quality courses. The honest employer need not have the fear he is cheating the treasury or conspiring with the veteran to raise his own taxes through payment of a back-door bonus. And the veteran can enroll for training in dignity without subjecting himself to the charges of having accepted a dole or a form of truck bonus."

Gen. Bradley said that if any further changes are needed they will become obvious after the law, as recently amended, has been tried out.

He continued: "More than anything else, we must guard the integrity of this veterans' program. We must keep its benefits fixed to the spirit of Congress and defend them against contentions of people who say the veteran needs nothing at all. 'The veteran's greatest asset today is the confidence that the people of America have in him,' Bradley declared."
